began throwing passes in an effort to tie up the score, but only two out of seven attempted were completed.
Following four Maroon plays at the start of the second half, Grosse Pointe took over on their own 38 and chalked up another score. 11 plays later when Tiedel passed to Dick Krimmel, who fell over the goal as he was tackled. Tiedel's kick was good this time and the score board read 13-0. Birmingham had possession of the ball for the rest of the quarter but couldn't advance farther than the Blue's 29 yard line.
Maple's Last Effort
The Maples took on new enthusiasm at the beginning of the fourth quarter and penetrated to Grosse Pointe's five yard line only to have the Pointers discover a Maroon fumble. The remaining minutes of the game saw a disheartened Baldwin squad in a futile attempt to overtake Grosse Pointe.

for the Maroons because of his consistent gains made on the fullback slot. Dick DeWitt, Dan Fisher, and Bob Joyce performed well in the Maroons' forward wall. Joyce appears to be a pound for pound, the equal of any Birmingham lineman on the squad.
Weak on First Downs
Many times the Maroons were within a yard of a first down and couldn't quite make the necessary gain. Birmingham's starting line-up was Dunn and Bell, and Fisher and Blauman, tackles; Joyce and Roth, guards; Bob Little, center; Frank Watts, quarterback; Tom Spiegel and Dick McConkie, halfbacks; and Keller, fullback.
Grosse Pointe started Van Odal and Price, ends; Cotter and Wambold, tackles; Ireland and Ratz, guards; Stamm, center; Fisher, quarterback; McPhail and Held, halfbacks; and Krimmel, fullback.
Carl Blauman was acting captain for Birmingham and the officials were Bortle, referee; Lafferty, umpire; and Barlow, head linesman.

State Ad In Cranbrook Post Theatre Tickets In Classified Ad Contest Given Out
By HAROLD P. BUEGGE
"A good time was had by all," and only regret was that every citizen who had a good sense of humor ran high in the Classified Advertising Contest which the Cranbrook Post has been sponsoring since last week.
It was surprising to note how thoroughly the contestants had read through the want ads to find the contest ad. Nearly every entry had the correct ad placed under the corresponding picture, and the only edge the winners had was that they had brought them in earlier, and according to the contest rules, the first fifteen correct entries were declared the winners. Fifteen prizes of the two admission tickets to the Cranbrook Post Theatre and in addition, a $100.00 War Bond was awarded to six runners-up. In all 21 prizes were given.
The fifteen winners were: Harland B. Smith, 467 Park Ave.; Mrs. Frank L. Smith, 435 Linden; Mary Gleason, 355 W. Maple; Ramsey De Meules, 651 Forest; Mrs. Frank L. Smith, 435 Linden; Fred Jeffers, 600 Suffered; James Hite, 833 Henrietta; C. L. Stinson, 848 Madison; Joe and David Brown, 656 Chester; Bob Laurer, 515 West; Sally Allen, 1600 Glenhurst; Mrs. Raymond Morgan, 867 Madison; Harold Welch, Jr., 780 Suffered; and Mary Anne Kraft, 644 Ontario.
The six runners-up were: Mary Corin, 516 Ridgeland; John Foley, 244 Madison; Mrs. M. J. Brown, one entry, 720 Westwood; Carl T. Naumann, 183 Poppleton; Richard Stewart, 183 Poppleton; Bloomfield Hills; and Lucy Barnes, 722 Randall Court. All prizes will be transferred to "Citizens for the Home" and "Citizens for the Home" and "The Human Comedy," a Birmingham Theatre double feature.

Public Works Plans Hailed
Bridges, Storm Sewer Among Items Listed by Corson
City Manager H. H. Corson hailed the announcement from the executive offices of Governor Kelly, which lists the Michigan Planning Commission is now ready to study applications from cities for assistance in public works projects as "most encouraging."
The members of the City Commission and myself have always felt that Birmingham should accept either state or federal assistance in public works construction only on a loan basis, as contrasted with the outright grant system which has attendant patronage evils," Mr. Corson said.
"But the Governor is right in pointing out that the state planning must be done now, and his State commission very properly recognizes that the state planning present needs which must be met just as soon as the situation on brook politics is cleared up."
Mr. Corson listed replacement of the present antiquated bridge structures on Baldwin avenue and Willis streets as outstanding projects to be considered.
"I believe most persons familiar with the operation of our sewage treatment plant at Cranbrook and Fourteen roads feel that the addition of a water chamber to this plant would be desirable," Mr. Corson added.
"Morrison Road needs an overflow storm drain, he also pointed out.
"There are probably half a dozen other matters which could profitably call to the attention of the State Planning Commission," Mr. Corson said.
"We couldn't accomplish more than one or two of them within any single year if we levied no other than general tax obligations. Of course, we could create special assessment districts and bonds, but with the help of a state or federal loan we would have a practical means of benefiting the community faster than any other method I know of."

hood with the appeal to help in the dramatic effort.
"Our progress has been fine this past week, but it can and must be better," Mr. Gardner continued. "I do desire to say emphatically that the results achieved by some of our women workers have been surprising and the lotus of all the women in the drive are sufficient proof that they do not intend to give their city suffer defeat in its drive to the final goal. If there are any women who have not yet participated, but can do so in this final week, I hope they will not fail to get in touch with Mr. Estes or the members of the Community Council groups."

those who have elected them. It is in this spirit that the League of Women Voters is holding its meetings, and all voters to attend such meetings."
The German people surrendered their democratic government, Mrs. Yonker pointed out, in spite of the warning they had had by one of their men on "America's Road to Ruin." "That which my fathers have bequeathed to thee, earn it anew, if thou wouldst possess it."
"If I seem to stress local government today," said Mrs. Yonker, it is because I can't see how we can be intelligently active on national and international levels, unless we refuse to accept our responsibilities as citizens right in our own backyard."
Panel Session Held
In the afternoon session of the League meeting, Mrs. Owen Bond, Professor E. C. Kelley, and the Reverend Clifton G. Hoffman, in their panel on "America's Road to Ruin—Foreign Policy," also stressed the part that the citizen must play in this matter.
"We have never had a consistent Foreign Policy," Professor Kelley said. "Why? Because the American people have not believed in their hearts that the welfare of the people of other nations is as important as their own welfare—they just don't care enough about their world neighbors. When they do care enough, there will be a consistent Foreign Policy in the State Department, and when they don't, there will be a Democrat or Republican."
People Must Decide
Mrs. Bond pointed out that before it could be decided what the best methods of carrying out a foreign policy were, the American people would have to decide what they want to accomplish. She suggested that one of the goals of a foreign policy should be to protect our vital interests. "But national interests lie," she said, "in another question, that Americans must decide if we are to give security to our vital national interests demands our association with other nations, we still must decide what form that association will take."
Mrs. Bond then quoted from a current brochure of the League of Women Voters: "Prelude to Postwar Planning." "Is a continuing military and naval presence in the United States, Great Britain and Russia the answer? Can a formal organization of the United Nations be made to work? Any plan MUST meet with the approval and support of the American people."
Another War Possible
Mr. Hoffman stated emphatically that babies born today would fight and die in another world war unless the American people face facts squarely and realistically. "We are not fighting for the Four Freedoms at this moment he said. "We are fighting for life itself. If we do not get together and plan constructively, we will have a world of peace if necessary—if we enforce it with our hands, if we carry out our dreams of Freedom from Want, we will have a world of peace or of Religion. But peace cannot be enforced for the period of time that we are engaged in constructive planning by one nation alone. There must be cooperation among the nations."
Mrs. Bond, Professor Kelley, and Mr. Hoffman all agreed that the American foreign policy should be the furtherance of our vital national interest, and that vital interest could be protected by international cooperation, in as wide a form as possible.
The next meeting of the League of Women Voters will be Monday, Oct. 18. One feature of the coming program will be "The American Program," under the direction of Mrs. Peter Loomis, Education chairman for the League. It is to be held at the usual time and place. Sell unused household articles.

pretty infuriating for us to listen to.
A Little Plain Talk
"I don't mind saying that I feel the majority of the people back home here as yet, no real sense of the seriousness of that Pacific warfare. They don't seem to realize that most of us are here and fighting from necessity and not from choice."
It might as well be said plainly that there wouldn't be many volunteers for the sort of thing we undergo out there. If it were for the draft I don't know where the services would have gotten the necessary troops for what has been done so far.
"To get back here now and look around in doing me good, of course. I'll have a greater sense than ever of what I'm fighting for when I go back on active duty this time."
Lieut. Rounds regrets he never reached Australia and hopes he can manage to get a sight of some part of Europe, at least, while he is present here on furlough.

Weekly Rubbish Collection Oct. 15
Weekly collection of ashes and rubbish will commence Oct. 15. City Manager H. H. Corson informed the City Commission Monday night.
Commissioner Howard R. Estes asked Mr. Corson whether any appreciable savings in cost or manpower would result from a two-weekly collection instead of every week.
The City Manager said he would bring in figures on the waste on a month basis, but pointed to the additional fire hazard and the fact that homes with containers large enough for only a week's collection of ashes would find it difficult to buy non-combustible containers until after the war.
Garbage collections on a weekly basis since last April 15, will be suspended Oct. 15. Commissioner Milton F. Mullender said that his service for 10 days recently and that he had heard many other complaints from Englishmen.
The rubbish and ash collection service will be operated on the following schedule: Monday—North of Maple and East of Woodward. Tuesday—North of Maple and West of Woodward. Wednesday—Between Maple and Lincoln west of Woodward and east of Southfield, but including both sides of the country. Friday—West of Woodward and south of Lincoln west of Southfield and south of Maple.

Enrollment at Cranbrook High
All three of the schools at the Cranbrook educational center in Bloomfield Hills, Mich., opened this week with the largest enrollment in history.
Cranbrook School, a boarding and day school for boys from all sections of Michigan and many states throughout the country. Two boys have registered from Port au Prince, Haiti, and two from England.
Kingswood Cranbrook, a boarding and day school for girls from the seventy to the south side of the state, has been formed to strain the boarding facilities somewhat to accommodate the students from the 181 girls who registered on the opening day of the school.
Brookside Cranbrook, far boys and girls from kindergarten to the sixth grade, this year has started its boarding home on the Cranbrook grounds. This year's registration at Brookside School exceeds that of any year in its history of twenty-two years. Some classes have already closed and the school is nearing full capacity.
The faculty at Brookside School remains intact except for the addition of two strong new members. Miss Renetta Roman will teach history of twenty-two years. Some classes have already closed and the school is nearing full capacity.

NEW PLAYGROUND VOTED
A new playground was added to the city's system of parks and playgrounds recently when the City Commission appropriated $100,000 for the purchase of 200 square feet of land facing Grant and First streets. Negotiations have been under way to acquire the land since 1940 and its addition gives the children of this section their third playground.
