Such a place is the Birmingham Community House. Publicly supported, directed by voluntary effort on the part of its 'citzens, this local institution right now is conducting its annual Roll Call; at seeks to obtain $16,000.00 for cusuing year.

If each of us here, after considering the House's great value to Birmingham and vicinity, really makes suitable contribution, the $16,000.00 goal will be reached with yeas:

Starting frimbly in a small house $2 years ago, the Community House has grown to auch an extent that, in some way or other, it now touches the personal lives of most of our people; it offers the comforts and convenyiences of shelter for service, clubs, immunofable, mena-and women's organizations, projects and entertainment for both young and old; its auditorium is filled many times yearly with sponsored musical and educational programs; it participates in activities to help the indigent, it operates an employment of fee—it has done all these things for years during peace times, and, now that we are at war, hencalt its friendly roof are carried on many volunteer, projects, intimately tied in with winning victory.

You Owe Plenty ... If you are not aware of the tremendous stake that the United States has in world affairs, just compare your individual portion of the nation's public federal debt, as of pre-yar and last fall.

Before, Pearl Harbor the per capita debt of our people was $293.00; as of last fall it had risen to $935.00. Before the war Britain's per capita debt was $107.00, and fast fall it was $164.00. Other nations were much, much less than the U. S. A.

All of which merely suggests that this no An of which merely suggests that this na-tion is pouring out its manpower and physical resources far beyond that of any other Ally—which brings up the natural question: Can the U. S. A. ever again remain isolated from the rest of the earth?

To that question, we think, there should be a thunderous NO!
