Cranbrook Tries Ambitious Plan For Its Theatre

Triple-casting a show and putting it through the full routine of production, staging, costuming, lighting, etc., all within two weeks is perhaps without precedent in the American theatre, but the directors of Cranbrook's Summer School of the Theatre are planning to do just that with Julian Thompson's "The Warrior's Husband." Aided by some professional talent and a highly-selected group of talented amateurs, the summer group will present three successive shows in the Greek Theatre on Lone Pine road on Aug. 9, 10, and 11.

The Thompson farce, which scored spectacular successes both in the movies and on the stage, is the very funny story of the Amazon land where women rule the roost and men are incidental. Queen Hippolyta (Marty McKinney of Birmingham, Donna Polczynski of Franklin, and Ada Ward of Pontiac) is forced to take a husband (Ted Mansfield of Birmingham) in order to satisfy the social ambitions of a courtier mother, Pomposia (Betty Cady, Polly Saunders, and Peggy Codd, all of Birmingham), and the cupidity of grafting politicians (Mary Quinn, Frances Mead, Nancy Neumann, Jeanne Helgeson, Lois Burton, Mary Mahon of Birmingham and Marilyn Riken of Detroit. But a restless creature at the court is Antiope (Nancy Sanders of Bloomfield Hills, Sonya Drews of Detroit, and Pat Newhall of Birmingham), until she is finally tamed by Theseus (Dana Elcar of Birmingham), an adventurer who travels from Greece with a new writer, Homer (James Starr, Birmingham). Hercules, John Van Tin, Grosse Pointe, and Achilles, Ed Riholin, Birmingham. How the Greeks helped Hercules to accomplish the ninth labor set him by the gods, the securing of Hippolyta's girdle, provides the fun.

Enlivening proceedings are a large group of Amazons, Mary Corin, Edith Kendall, Barbara Ulrich, Kit Scheifele, Elizabeth Boyne, Carol Boyne, Elaine Newhall, Peggy Keenan, Joan Fisher, Marjorie Smith, Joyce Hanna, Ann Drake, and Carol Crake of Birmingham, and a funny Greek herald, Terry Hatch of Royal Oak.

In charge of the stage crew is Ken Woods who also designed and lighted the set. Associated with Wood are Peter Hartsuff, Ed Ribolin of Birmingham, and Dave Locklin of Pontiac. Ruth Mills and Peter Hartsuff have been in charge of properties and effects, and Annetta Bouton Wonnberger, associate director, has arranged for the costuming which Ruth Mills in part designed.

Directing is Carl G. Wonnberger, head of the Theatre School and assistant director, Alice Anderson and Lucille Mahon.

GIRL SCOUTS

Summer Activities

There is no time like the long summer days when it comes to working for that "hard-to-earn" Dramatics Badge, say the Girl Scouts of Troop B-7 (Pierce school) and Troop B-17 (Holy Name) who are "play-acting" most of the time. They are hard at work on their production of "Buzzie's Babies," a one-act Girl Scout comedy by Marion Holbrook which will be presented at the Baldwin Public Library on Friday, Aug. 4, at 3-p. m.

Dress rehearsal of all acts is called for 10 a. m. today.

The program will open with piano selections from "Carmen" played by Catherine Skelly (B-17), followed by dances by Alice Richards and Barbara Aikens (Brownie age).

"Buzzie's Babies" will follow immediately with the following cast: Janet, Mary Bowden; Pat, Catherine Skelly; Marjorie, Janice Ross; Ellen, Susan Roach; Buzzie, Jane Roach; Mrs. James, Lynn Davison; Mrs. Reilly, Gwendolyn Uppleger; Mrs. Marchetti, Catherine Smith, Mrs. Dennis, Ann Morrow; Johnnie Dennis, John Morrow; Mrs. Bangs, Mary Richards.

Costumes are under the direction of Lynn Davison; properties of Ann Morrow; publicity and programs, Janice Ross; stage setting, Susan Roach; ticket sales, Mary Richards.

The play is sponsored by Mrs. R. J. Roach and Mrs. S. E. Ross.

All Girl Scouts and their leaders are invited to attend. The admission is 10c for adults, 5c for children. Proceeds, above expenses, will be contributed to the American Red Cross.
