Mrs. W. A. Sears To Give Book Review At Tea, Feb. 21

Mrs. W. A. Sears, of Argyle road, Beverly Hills, will review Shalom Asch's book "The Apostle," at a silver tea in the home of Mrs. R. W. Ricker, 677 Eldredale, Monday, Feb. 21.

The tea, which will be given at 2 o'clock, is being sponsored by St. Agnes Guild of St. James Episcopal church. Assisting the hostess will be Mrs. A. Fletcher Plant, Mrs. J. Leonard Juhl and Mrs. Robert F. Watt. Miss Olive M. Robinson and Mrs. Orren Andrews will pour.

Mrs. Sears is qualified for this sort of presentation, having served as a librarian in Indiana for several years, and has given book reviews for 12 years. She took her training at Columbia University.

At a similar gathering last year, Mrs. Sears reviewed Lloyd Douglass' "The Robe." She feels that "The Apostle" is a good follow-up for anyone who enjoyed "The Robe." This book, a fiction biography of the Apostle Paul, follows the Bible very closely.

Church Groups Hold Valentine Parties

Mrs. L. C. Akerley was hostess to the primary group from the Calvary Baptist Church last Friday afternoon in her home, on Benvenville.

A similar Valentine party was given the same day at the home of Mrs. James Ruch, on Webster street.

Mrs. Ruch entertained for the junior and intermediate groups of that church.

Monday night the adult group was entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Marjorie Pierce, on Smith street. An election of the class officers was held at the same time.

Women in Service

Helen N. von Weiler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. K. von Weiler, Royal Oak, who was employed in the Birmingham office of the Michigan Bell Telephone Co. for the past three years, was sworn in as a WAVE of the United States Naval Reserve, and will leave shortly for boot training at Hunter College, New York.

Dr. Deer Called To Active Naval Duty

Dr. E. W. Deer, Birmingham dentist, who recently was commissioned a lieutenant (j.g.) in the U. S. Naval dental corps, left Wednesday for Great Lakes Naval Training Station to begin his duties.

Dr. Deer expects to be stationed at Great Lakes for some time. However, Mrs. Deer and two children remain here for the present.

Before his departure Dr. Deer was honored at several parties. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Muzzy, of Pine street, entertained at a dinner party on Saturday night in his honor. The guest list included Mr. and Mrs. Richard Brown, Dr. and Mrs. Henry Schmidt, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Rathbone, Mr. and Mrs. George Dixon, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Davis, and Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Brien.

A subscription potluck dinner, a neighborhood party, was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Garrison, on Melbourne street, Sunday night. They presented Dr. Deer with a regulation week-end bag. On Monday Mrs. Deer entertained at a family dinner.

Mary A. McCarthy Weds Gordon Day At Morning Service

Before an altar decorated with palms, ferns, white calla lilies, gladioli and snapdragons, Mary Ann McCarthy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. McCarthy, of Pilgrim road, spoke her marriage vows to Gordon F. Day, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon M. Day, of Milwaukee, Saturday at the Holy Name church. The Rev. Fr. David Duncan read the service.

Mary Ann, who was accompanied down the aisle and given in marriage by her father, was gown in ivory satin. A floral design of silk cording edged the marquette yoke of the bodice. The long tight sleeves tapered to tiny points over the wrists. The full skirt ended in a long court train. Her fingertip veil fell from a Dutch cap made of beiterium Battenburg lace and she carried a bouquet of camellias and stephanotis.

The bride was preceded down the aisle by her sister, Jane, who acted as maid of honor. Jane wore a pink gown, the bodice of which was lace and the long full skirt was marquette and a small half-marquette trimmed with small pompons on the sides. She carried a colonial bouquet of freesia and gladioli.

The bridesmaids, Genevieve Merry, of Detroit, and Betty Welch, of Toledo, wore aqua dresses fashioned along the same lines as Jane's. They carried the same colonial bouquets.

John Day was his brother's best man. John Daggett and George Strokin, both of Milwaukee, were ushers.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. McCarthy chose an aqua crepe street length dress with which she wore pink camellias. Her chapeau was floral trimmed. Mrs. Day wore a fuchsia dress and matching hat. Her flowers were also camellias.

Following the service a reception was held at the Community House. Out-of-town guests included the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Uttho, of Vermilion, O.; Mrs. John Day and Mrs. John Daggett, of Milwaukee; Mr. and Mrs. Sam Hope and Chris Linn, also of Milwaukee.

When the new Mrs. Day left for her wedding trip to Cleveland, she wore a chateaux crepe dress, matching hat and mink coat with brown accessories. After a trip to Cleveland they will be at home to their friends in Milwaukee.

The hide was preceded down the aisle by her sister, Jane, who acted as maid of honor. Jane wore a pink gown, the bodice of which was lace and the long full skirt was marquette and a small half-marquette trimmed with small pompons on the sides. She carried a colonial bouquet of freesia and gladioli.
