Fred Zoellin and Carl Blauman, who played their last basketball game for Baldwin against Walled Lake last Friday night, ably assisted in downing the Blue and Gold five 51-35.

Fred's accurate passing made possible many of the Maple buckles and his excellent guarding, which was characteristic of his entire high school basketball career, prevented many of the opponents' baskets.

Carl played a fine defensive game besides contributing points. He started on the reserve five this season, but made great improvement; and in the last few games was a great asset to the squad. Harold Kelley, who was high point man for the contest, in our opinion, played one of his finest games. Several times when Harold had a good chance to score, he passed to a team mate who was open, instead of shooting.

Kelley's teamwork is evidence of the fact that the Maple eagles are becoming a very cooperative squad and are playing as a unit. No matter what combination of players Coach Cramer put on the floor the team performs as a highly perfected unit.

Next week the Maples will not see action, but they will have their second encounter with Ferndale on the local home court, Feb. 11. The Railspitters defeated the locals 28-27 recently.

Frank Wanger, Baldwin mile record holder, is working out with the Michigan track squad under the Navy V-12 program, and from all reports is making a fine showing of a distance man.

Barnum Junior High Elects Its Student Council Officers

Barnum junior high school students have elected their Student Council officers for next semester. The junior assembly was conducted in the student council with Ernest Anderson, council president, presiding. There were campaign speeches by all candidates and their managers.

Following the assembly, voting took place in each of the nineteen homerooms and they were known as precincts. As the ballots were counted in each precinct the rest of the precincts were notified. There was a spirited fifteen minutes until the final results were determined.

The newly elected officers are: President, Charles Murray; vice-president, Peter Neelson; secretary, Elizabeth Lind; treasurer, Jack Moses.

Charles Murray, the new president, is a ninth grade student. He has an outstanding record with his school work. In addition to being an honor student, he participates in all athletics and in the school orchestra. He has established an excellent record in Boy Scout work as well as with the Cubs. Charles is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald A. Murray, of Tibury road.

BALDWIN HIGHLIGHTS

Hi Kids!

A group of promising boys and girls left Baldwin with the graduation exercises last Thursday night. A few underclassmen were there to see each receive his diploma.

Patti Keller waited anxiously for her date, Bob Joyce, to step upon the platform. Martha Bostick, Harriet Breimayer, Janet Walser, Rip Van Winkle, Alice Stauffer, Helen Mack, Mary Bull, Sally Kreidler, and Susan Reeder watched with wide eyes.

Nina Kalbus invited the graduating class to her house afterwards. Did someone say there was a man shortage these days. There was a number of boys to each girl, and the lucky girls were Patty Price, Ginny Bostwick, Sue Burnside, and Mary Jane Tuttle. Having a wonderful time were Ed Crandell, Fred Zoellin, Paul Smith, Carl Blauman, Don Roberts, Stan Ried, Wally Roy, and Paul Benister.

Wednesday night Hangmen also did intrigue several. Annie saw Ruth Harrell, Chuck Adams, Jan Helgeson, and Ted Mansfield. Sally McKee, Charlotte Ladner, and Margaret Richey found the movie most enjoyable.

Friday saw another Baldwin basketball game. Rose Keene sat with two very handsome young gentlemen. Upon inquiry Annie discovered that one was Gladden Schlaack's younger brother and the other the Claire's little cousin.

Dates were Janice Upmeyer, Bud Critton, Tackey Pearson, Bernard Levinson, Nannette Letherby, Charlie Crandell, Mary Ann Nettler, and Fred Booth. Dr. Ireland was there with his daughter, and Mr. and Mrs. Wagner attended.

After the game Kate Kemp, Bob Little, Martina McKinnay, and Ray Bell piled into Ray's car and were off for a gay evening. Incidentally, Annie was delighted to hear that Bob gave Kate his hard-earned gold football.

Nancy Bell and Nancy Moritz stepped out with two Cranbrook slinkers Saturday night. They were Darwin and Corky Jackson, respectively.

The Saturday night dance was as much fun as ever. Orchids seemed to be the style. Mary Phett, Barbara Foster, and Dorothy Porter looked delightfully charming wearing their beautiful flowers. Probably for graduation—those last two.

Couples swaying rhythmically to the music were Barbara Black, Doug Wenzell, Shirley Smith, Ronald Johnson, Lewis Booth, Frank Minninger, Franny Mead, Jim Lamb, Barbara Fox, Tom Ritter, G. J. Maxwell, Jim Ritter, Mary Quinn, Bill Eade, Susie Spiegel, George Miller, Andy Anderson, Bill Booth, Mary Fox, Bill Bones, Mary Welch, and Jim Vaughn.

Congratulations go to Franny Nevel and Bob Warner, who decided to add their names to the list of steady couples.

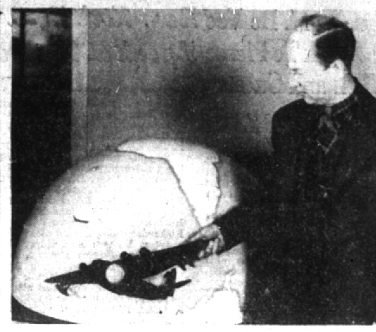

Till our next, ANNIE.

The Inter-cultural Exhibition At The Cranbrook Institute of Science Draws Large Number of Interested Visitors

Friday evening, January 21st, marked the opening of an inter-racial and inter-cultural exhibition at the Cranbrook Institute of Science, Bloomfield Hills, but the opening date is dwarfed by the mounting national interest in this timely exhibit.

Attending the opening of the exhibition, Dr. Harry L. Shapiro congratulated the originator and director, Dr. Robert T. Hatt, for leading and sponsoring this educational exhibition "designed to create good will and inter-racial understanding." Dr. Shapiro is chairman of the department of anthropology at the American Museum of Natural History and professor of anthropology at Columbia University. Dr. Shapiro minimized the biological differences between the races and said "baseless notions of race superiority constitute one of the most pernicious breeders of ill will."

At the opening of the exhibition, Dr. Michia Titiev, professor of anthropology at the University of Michigan, pointed out that "no race is more capable of developing higher culture, and science has proved that there is no biological deterioration caused through inter-marrying with offspring.

Mrs. Benah Whitty, executive secretary of emergency war services of the Metropolitan Detroit Office of Civilian Defense, and one of Detroit's most distinguished workers for the betterment of inter-racial relations, said "until we come to grips with this racial problem we may lose a battle more important than is now being fought on the war fronts shoulder to shoulder by members of the white, yellow and black races."

Among those attending the opening of the exhibition were Norman D. Humphries and Alfred McClung Lee of Wayne University, co-authors of the book "Race Riot," and Mr. Harold E. Bledsoe, Mr. Bledsoe is the only colored man serving on the Detroit War Manpower Commission, and Mrs. Bledsoe is active in Detroit social work.

John J. O'Brien, newly appointed member of Mayor Jeffries' inter-racial commission, also attended the opening. Others present included George C. Booth, founder of all of the Cranbrook Institutions; C. A. Newcomb, chairman of the board of directors of the Cranbrook Institute of Science; Cecil Billington, a director of the Cranbrook Foundation; the Cranbrook Institute of Science, Cranbrook School and the Cranbrook Academy of Art; the Rev. Dr. Samuel S. Marquis; Rev. Charles H. Cadigan; Carl Miles; Lee A. White; Mrs. William Graydon Booth; and Mrs. Paul Penfield.

In closing the meeting Dr. Hatt emphasized the fact that the Cranbrook Institute of Science accepted the assignment of approaching inter-racial problems from the scientific angle and said "no effort has been made to influence thinking other than to create a sound and the scientific basis for constructive planning without prejudice and without unjustified feelings of superiority which have hampered inter-racial understanding."

Birmingham Beats Walled Lake Five

In a marvelous exhibition of teamwork, the Birmingham eagles handed Walled Lake a sound trouncing to the tune of 51-35. Friday evening in Baldwin gymnasium to extend their record to seven wins out of ten starts.

The contest was one of the best this season from the spectators' point of view because the "locals" play was outstanding in polishing off the visitors. It can be seen from the scoring that there were no individual stars because Harold Kelley's total of 11 points was closely followed by the ten points each scored by Don Little and Alvin Larsen. The Maples' passing was accurate and Fred Zoellin, who made his final appearance for Baldwin, was especially successful in breaking up the opponents' passes and completing some hard ones himself.

Birmingham took a 9-lead in the first quarter and stretched it to 25-11 at half time. The locals were out in front at the end of the third period when they had a 20 margin, but in the last quarter they really started clicking.

The lineups were as follows:

Birmingham: Little (MacDonald), Kelley (MacDonald), Larsen (Blau-man), Boomer (Wood-house), Zoellin (Keller), Long (Richardson), and Sanders (Rieson). Walled Lake: Blake (Burt), Colestock (De-Donald), Larson (Blau-man), Boomer (Wood-house), Zoellin (Keller), Long (Richardson), and Sanders (Rieson).

Rieson played an outstanding game for Walled Lake and would be an asset to any team. He scored ten points and did a lot of fine work under the baskets.
