Dalee-Thomas Luncheon and Talk Delights Jane Collins Weds Ensign Hubbard

Monday's meeting of the Birmingham Branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association was a veritable verve of spring with forced branches in beautiful bloom as a backdrop for the delightful luncheon and a talk by Mrs. George Bous, of the Detroit Garden Center. Mrs. Bouton illustrated her talk, "Gardens Through the Seasons," on the various phases of some of Detroit's distinctive gardens, the Booth gardens, at Cranbrook, Mrs. Mary C. Patten's garden, scenes at Mrs. W. D. Thompson's estate and the Victory Garden, given by the Garden at Willets in 1942.
Mrs. Bouton discussed forcing bulbs from shrubs, orchards and trees of the forest. A colorful display of such forced blooms included red bud, forsythia, quince, Cornelian cherry, dogwood, pussy willows and others which were of interest to Mrs. Robert Grindley, Mrs. Atwood E. Oatman, Mrs. Arthur Roberts, Mrs. Victor Spike, Mrs. E. H. McKinney, Mrs. S. S. Rice Jr. and some special blooms from Mrs. Thompson. Mrs. Bouton was introduced by Mrs. Elmore F.

Wallering. Mrs. Lynn McNaughton, of Grosse Pointe, spoke president of the national organization. Mrs. Raymond F. Reitter, Mrs. J. H. Smith and Mrs. H. B. Steagall of Mrs. Edward Brohm's special committee were in charge of the buffet luncheon in the Ruth Shain room. The table was done by Mrs. Arthur E. Ulrich with a centulip, daffodils and Narcissus in low arrangement of acacia, white white pottery oblong bowl. Mrs. Ulrich also held white Chinese figurines. Satin in a delicate green tone covered the table. Mrs. Harold Chapel, Mrs. E. L. Alexander and Mrs. E. L. Beam presided. Mrs. Donald Price and Mrs. Bronson Brand assisted at the door.
Mrs. Wollert entertained her program committee Wednesday at tea at her home, on Yarmouth road to discuss plans for future meetings.
During the business meeting, Mrs. Ewald Schaffer presented a budget for the year ahead which was accepted unanimously and resolutions were given which pointed toward an outstanding year of accomplishment.

comes in to buy a pair of blue jeans to do her gardening in. She then for a pair of overalls, tries them on and is much pleased. She opens them up and they aren't sized under 48; very annoyed she puts them on back and stalks out. I had a dynamic part: the script called for a young girl around 20—she came. I walk in, make a purchase of a couple of towels, and walk out—a star is born, no doubt?
