6 Local Women At State Congress Of Parents, Teachers

Birmingham was well represented at the second Wartime Conference of the Michigan Congress of Parents and Teachers held in Grand Rapids May 9-11. Mrs. Joseph Kubaska represented Adams school; Mrs. Anne Gregory, Baldwin; Mrs. John Sprague, principal; Mrs. Edith Grandall, kindergarten teacher; Mrs. Fred Little, Mrs. J. M. Ross and Mrs. O. L. Bunnas will be present to assist in the discussion and preparations for school entry.

Mrs. A. N. Wingerden will give a short address on the necessary health check-up for new school children.

A nursery will take care of the pre-school children during the meeting. Refreshments will be served.

Speeches and conferences centered around the theme of the meeting, "Children are not expendable," with more than a thousand delegates from over 100 different districts studying ways to help Michigan children during the war period which has thrown life out of its normal channels.

Highlight of the conference was a banquet at which Governor Kelly gave a report on bills assisting our young people passed during the last legislative session. These bills increased appropriations for institutions caring for children from broken homes, permitted the placing of children in foster homes where they will receive more individual care, and placed further legal responsibility on parents in cases of neglect to children.

Mrs. W. Anderson Fetes Bride-Elect

United Nations Now Campaign Drawing Interest Locally

On Thursday, May 18, twenty-two national organizations are launching a nation-wide United Nations campaign. Its purpose is to focus the attention of the American public on the need for creating a United Nations Council now to proceed with the formation of a general international organization (pre-shadowed in the Moscow Declaration and the Senate Connally Resolution).

Mrs. John H. Greenwood, North Woodward, the state chairman for the Women's Action Committee for Victory and Winning Peace, the organization which originated the idea of a United Nations Council here, has just returned from a conference of the Committee in New York May 3-4, attended by 300 women from every state in the union. She reports on an address given by Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, the honorary chairman of the Women's Action Committee, which was a call to the women of the United States to action.

Mrs. Greenwood reports that locally a great deal of interest has been displayed in the United Nations Council here. The Birmingham "MOMS" at their recent meeting passed a resolution favoring the plan and its members have indicated they will write letters in support of the plan. Members of the American Association of University Women and the League of Women Voters are also participating in this program of action.

"What'll we do with all those invisible hairnets we have left in stock?" asked the clerk.

"Put 'em on sale as the newest material for street dresses," replied the head of the department.
