

Boy Scouts Plan Court of Honor

The ensuing Boy Scout Court of Honor in Birmingham for the past year is announced for Wednesday evening, May 31, at Baldwin high school auditorium, where a large number of boys from Birmingham and this area are to be honored.

The evening is planned with a double purpose—honoring the Scouts and to stimulate interest in summer camping activities for the various Birmingham troops.

There will be two special features on the coming program: William Donnelly, Detroit, now with the F. I. I., will give a demonstration of the use of camping equipment. It is said he made much of the equipment he will use in his part of the program. Wendell Wilson, director of athletics at Cranbrook School, and head of a summer camp for boys in the Rockies, is to show his western camp movies and give a talk on camping.

Troop P. I. of Franklin Hills, under the Rev. C. Hoffman, Jr., scoutmaster, will conduct both the opening and closing ceremonies.

Bill Spence is to lead the group singing with Donald Terry at the piano.

Penderfoot awards are to be made by Hugh McLeese while P. W. Smith will take charge of the second class recognition and A. S. McCall the first class recognition.

J. W. Kautis will make the merit badge presentations. Recognition for Star Scouts will be directed by Max W. Roensch and that for Life Scouts by A. E. Eberhart.

Palm awards will be made by Charles S. Kinnison.

Secured to make the Eagle Scout awards is Col. Edward S. George, Scoutmaster Dain W. Millman of Troop B-8 and his Scouts will arrange the stage scene which will represent a summer camp.

Schultz, Detroit, improper opening and closing ceremonies brakes.

Cranbrook School Wins Third Place In Michigan State Class B Track Meet

The Cranbrook School track squad is one of the largest and best in the history of the school. Winning the regional meet at Ferndale two weeks ago by a run-away score, eleven of the boys qualified in 14 events for the state championship meet at East Lansing last Saturday where they placed third in Class C and threatened to win the meet until the last event was completed. Tom Dickinson was the outstanding performer for Cranbrook, winning the 880-yard sprint greatest of all three-ring circus: the great game of "practical wit".

So, Dear Reader, if you were guiding such a political campaign, would you use any or all of the above plans?

(P.S.—If you want your candidate elected, you'd be compelled to use some of them; and more of them to be re-elected. But, if your candidate were of the stuff that makes for complete honesty, sincerity, and character, you'd use fewer of these "plans". For, folks, most political "plans" make weak and short-lived structures, which is why, over the whole world, there exists so much chaos, so much lack of average citizen cheer and strength; all of which eventually issue global war.)

suggested the fast manager among the city should study street improvements, costs, special assessments, district plans and other such effort, should be a very decided "yes".

Commissioner W. E. Moody backed the proposal that the manager and the City Planning Commission should work together on the proposed plans and the suggestion received the hearty support of Commissioners John E. Martzland and Ralph Corley.

City Assessor Elmer Haack also suggested that the manager and the City Planning Commission should work together in developing the street improvement program.

Hear Many Complaints

Louis Hasey, realtor, told the Commission he had heard more criticism of Birmingham street work of anything else in the city. "I don't think we should wait until after the war to get some of these things done," he said. Whiting Raymond, another realtor, also suggested immediate action on street improvements. He urged a stop of the financing program with a view of early action.

City Manager Corson explained that a good black-top pavement could be laid on many streets for a much lower cost than concrete. "This," he said, "would serve very well on streets where the traffic is not heavy."

In special assessment type of improvements, Mr. Corson said, "the city agrees to maintain the improvement, once it is installed and not for by the property owners. For street oiling, where there is no special assessment and where the property owners petition for improvement and pay for it in advance, then the city does not assume that obligation."

Siren Blast Is Set For D-Day

Birmingham's air raid siren is to be heard in a 30-second blast to announce the opening of D-Day to local residents. It was decided by Chief of Police John P. Hackett, commander of the Birmingham Defense Corps, in a method of announcing the opening of the big European invasion was asked by Governor Harry F. Kelly in his recent plans for that day. Following the blast of the siren will come a 60-second noise in silence, reflection or prayer by all residents, Gov. Kelly has revealed.

As soon as the invasion is officially announced, state civilian defense headquarters will flash ward to control centers throughout Michigan and fix a definite hour for sounding sirens, the governor said.

Pierce School Chief Is Given War Bond

Safety Patrol Captain, Peter Plumstead, of the Pierce School, has received a $250 war bond for his fine work during the school term. It was announced today by the Automobile Club of Michigan. This wartime award replaces the annual trip to Washington, D. C., where Michigan's potential safety patrol officers formerly marched in a huge safety patrol by parade.

Award of the Safety Club, held for one year, also was announced to the Pierce school for the best record of safety work during the year. This was made on the basis of safety patrol maintenance, regular and well-planned safety instruction, and conscientious reports of activities.

Formal presentation of the bond to Peter Plumstead was made Monday, May 22, by Floyd A. Webb, representing the Automobile club. Presentation of the award to the school will be made at the beginning of the fall term of school.
