Barnum School Home Economics Girls to Assist At Luncheon May 8

The opportunity of putting theory into practice was hailed as a thrill by several home economics students at the Barnum school when a request came from the Birmingham Branch of the Women's National Farm and Garden association for assistance at their benefit bridge scheduled for next Monday at the Community House.

These students, who have been working five hours each week in the study of foods and their preparation under direction of Lorraine Beatty, are this week polishing up their technique in serving so that getting refreshments to the bridge tables may run as smoothly as such service does in class. They look upon the filling of punch glasses and arranging and serving of food as an important phase of their education. They are reported to be looking forward to the work on Monday as a privilege and not a task.

The girls who will assist on Mrs. Derwood Gamble's committee are Nancy Becke, Jean Brown, Ann Rickenbaugh, Mary Kemp, Betty Whitlaw, Ann St. Dennis, Sarah Brostein, Sally Grant, Helen Parkes and Virginia Schaffer.

Also assisting Mrs. Gamble will be Mrs. J. Vinton Birch, Mrs. Hannah P. Holmes, Mrs. Murray S.

Kice, Mrs. Lloyd S. Linton, Mrs. Harry G. Corbet and Mrs. A. J. Strivens.

Mrs. Eli Alexander, ticket chairman, hourly adds to the long list of those engaging tables. She reports as her latest list, Mrs. J. S. O'Grum, Mrs. A. F. Ulrich, Mrs. John Palmer Wood, Mrs. R. T. Beers, Mrs. Elbridge G. Newhall, Mrs. Karl Lutz, Mrs. Walter Skinner, Mrs. L. J. Woodson, Mrs. Aaron H. Webster.

Mrs. Harold R. Chapel attended the executive board of the garden club at luncheon at its monthly meeting at her home on Buford. Luncheon was served from a buffet table centered with a modern arrangement of spring flowers. The board meetings are to be discontinued until fall.

Haefner-Spinning Vows Spoken at Christ Church

Christ Church Cranbrook was the setting for the 8 o'clock wedding of Catharine Haefner, daughter of Mrs. Fred U. Keller.

Mrs. Keller chose a long dress of violet tulle and a carriage feathered hat. Her Howard gown, which Mrs. Spinning was dressed in blue chiffon with a matching hat and salmon colored orchids in her hair.

A reception at the Keller home followed the ceremony, where the receiving line formed before the fireplace which was banked with palms, white spring flowers and gardenias.

When the couple left for Atlantic City, where Lieut. Spinning will report, Mrs. Spinning wore a purple tulle suit, a small white, purple straw hat, a beige coat and some marten fur.
