This Year's Thanksgiving

Two hundred and sixty-eight years ago the Massachusetts Bay Colony ordered a Day of Thanksgiving to be set aside. It was the 29th of June that year; and that year, too, was a bitter year of war for the colonists—yet the tone of that historic proclamation of so long ago reflected the acute cognizance of the founding fathers of their many Providential blessings which, since then, have made our country strong and great!

A phrase from that early Thanksgiving Proclamation is equally appropriate this year: "... It certainly bespeaks our positive Thankfulness, when our enemies are in any measure disappointed and destroyed."
