President Roosevelt Says:

"The Free Press of America is a living symbol of democracy, and as such, it is in the forefront of democracy's battle for survival. It is helping to win that battle and will help to win the peace and a better and freer world in the future.

"The press of America has upheld the hand of the soldier at the front and the worker on the production line. By providing the people with honest news, it has enlightened the minds of the people and strengthened their will. It has loyally shared in the sacrifices imposed by the need to ration essential daterials. It has gladly and voluntarily abided by a code of censorship.

"The American press has met the test of our greatest national crisis with courage, loyalty and integrity, and to the members of the Newspaper Association Managers, as representatives of that press, I am happy to send greetings."

Governor Dewey Says:

"National Newspaper Week serves to call the American people to a re-examination and revaluation of the free press which serve them so well and which has contributed in so many important ways to the winning of the war.

many important ways to the winning of the war.

"As American troops help liberate Europe, it would be well if every citizen of America, would study what happened to Continental Europe, where the press developed to Continental Europe, where the press developed to the Pritain. The press of Europe grew soft and eynical in its dependence for income upon the subsidies and patronage of special pressure groups and hloes. Advertising never developed to the point of establishing an independent financial foundation. So the press of many European countries became merely propagandar sheets for various blocs and political groups. Freedom of the press, as America knows it, became unavaijable. The kept press of the European bloes thought it could not afford freedom. Events demonstrated that it could not afford ford to do without freedom.

could not alrord treedom. Events demonstrated that it could not afford to do without freedom.

"The freedom of press and speech amendment was added to our youthful Constitution because of a deep-scated fear of government dominance. The founding fathers wrote a defense in the fundamental law against the arbitrary suppression of a free press by government, such as, had taken place at times in England before and during Colonial days. They were determined to leave no loopholes for such development here.

"The dictators have given the world a bitter and bloody demonstration that government tyranny is still the great enemy of free press and speech. Measures to suppress competely the freedom of the press were carried out by every one of the dictators as natural and essential steps to their success.

"To the publishers and staffs of America's newspapers, our people are indebted for a great service of enlightenment. As custodians of a public trust they have given America by far the freest, most interesting and most in the world. I know our publishers and enlows will hold high that precious tradition."

Men Face Death
Men Face Death
And God
In a report to the War Department,
the Rev. Dr. Dantoured the Pacific theater as an envoy of the President, sesures American fathers and mothers that they "need have no fear that loved ones will forget their God."
We doubt that American athers and mothers equity any assurance on this point, but it is interesting to note that Dr. Poling finds that Army chaplains are "pafrorming
one of the greatest services of all times."
We have always found it difficult to understand the fear of some Americans that our soldiers and sailors will drift away from Cod
while engaged in the service of their country.
Certainly, men who look death in the fave
daily are inclined to think of eternal verities
In fact, many fighting men have given more serious thought to religious hatters than they would have done at home.

Part of the BECK USER BY THE NEW DEAL since 1933 could be used to play according to Hoyle, so to speak; but, as time eight on, and the cards got into unvise and speculator hands, the game became, "stacked," against the tried and trusted rules of America—and pienty of people lost. What we need now is a change in the shufflers: America still has plenty of "play" for honest work among its people.

To BE STERS, WAR DESTROYS MICH OF civiliza-tion, but it also produces some evolutionary improvements in international thinking, not to overlook progress in some branches of science. As war becomes more and more do-structive, man is forced to set up preventive measures against another war, for self-preservation.
