There's a... GREAT DAY COMING

Nothing can surpass the joy and relief from the yoke of war that final victory will bring. But when the time comes to enjoy living again there will be many new home comforts to look forward to. Gone will be the worry of ration stamps and the thought that GAS is a war fuel to be used only when absolutely necessary. No longer will the great gas ovens in our war plants be turned full "on" to cook implements of war and those in our kitchens turned "off" to conserve this labor-saving fuel. Instead of tougher armor plate and shells it will be more tender steaks, roasts, pies and cakes. Yes, there's a great day coming when GAS, that clean, fast, wonderful fuel will not only cook our meals, heat our homes, cool and preserve our foods and provide plenty of hot water; but it will also provide us with 'round air conditioning.

Heating and cooling with gas through one simple air conditioning unit will be one of the most welcome postwar comforts of modern science; Buy more War Bonds today and enjoy better, happier living tomorrow.

No one knows when this war will end, but until it does, it is everyone's patriotic duty to conserve all vital material of war. GAS is a crucial vital material of war, it must continue to be used wisely.
