Local Sportsmen Are Making Ready For Deer Season

Here is the data on deer hunting:

The rifle season opens in the northern part of Lower Michigan and the entire Upper Peninsula on Nov. 15 and ends Dec. 3. This is for bucks only.

There's a special season for 800 rifle hunters; whose names will be selected by lottery, who may hunt antlerless deer in Allegan County Dec. 1-10.

Bow and arrow hunters will be permitted to hunt bucks only in any county of the state Nov. 1-14 and deer of either sex in Allegan County Nov. 1-30.

All hunters are required to buy a license costing $2.25.

One hundred thousand acres all small game cover with rabbits, pheasants and squirrels predominating, are now owned by the State.

Automobiles are taking an increasing toll of wildlife on highways and country roads. Heavies' mortality is among cottontail rabbits, with pheasants second and fox squirrels third. Among furbearers the muskrat leads.

Michigan Leads

Michigan's 700,000 licensed resident fishermen and 220,000 deer hunters have made possible the acquisition of 317,000 acres of public hunting grounds and game refuges, and more than 150 public fishing sites, by their approval of the State's plan to set aside 40 cents of every $1 fishing license and $1.50 of every $2.25 deer license.

Since 1931 deer hunters have contributed $2,800,000 and since 1939 fishermen have turned over $1,100,000.

Michigan tops all other states in this respect.

Under the bounty system the State has paid $82,945 in the last 12 months for trappers for taking 1,110 male coyotes, 1,143 females 34 timber wolves and 508 bobcats. The state pays $20 for female wolves and coyotes and $15 for males. Bobcats of either sex bring $5.00.

In the last 10 years wildfowl species native to North America have increased 400 per cent. In 1934 there were 250,000 wild ducks; now there are more than 140,000,000.

For Bear Hunters

Black bear can be hunted only during the regular deer hunting season in November but in Baraga, Menominee and Schoolcraft Counties in the Upper Peninsula, and Bay, Leelanau, Oceana and Missaukee Counties in the Lower Peninsula, they may be hunted all the year around by hubters carrying gun permits as well as big game licenses. The seven counties are exempt because black bear are a grave nuisance, destroying live stock, beehives and farm crops.

Twenty four courses will be laid out for the Grand National Grouse Championship Trials at Gladwin. Game refuge, starting Nov. 5.

The hunting season on woodcock, Oct. 15-29, is the shortest of all upland game species. State small game hunting license, cost ing $1 is required.

By the end of July Michigan had sold over a quarter million fishing licenses than last year. The revenue was $460,000.

State Fishing Site Plan Is Upheld By The Supreme Court

The state supreme court this week upheld the conservation department's policy of installing public fishing sites on lakes adjacent to private resorts.

The decision overruled the Oakland county circuit court which granted Charles Gableman, owner of a residence on White Lake in Oakland county restraining order to prevent the department from establishing a four lot site next door permitting public access to the lake for fishing and boating. The lower court had held the site would decrease land values and that if the state were to go through with the project it should condemn Gableman's land and reimburse him.

"We do not think," the supreme court said, "it should be held that the state should be required to condemn surrounding property in order to make its natural resources available to the public. The court would take judicial notice of the fact that considerable public funds have been expended in advertising Michigan as a summer playground and it certainly is the policy of this state to afford its citizens and its visitors free and comfortable use of the waters and scenic beauties of Michigan."

The court held that since a boat livery had been operated nearby for 10 years the area could not be called a residential district.

Birmingham Boy Is U. of M. Center

Birmingham football fans likely will see Harold Watts of Birmingham playing the center position when the University of Michigan team takes the field to battle the Iowa Preflight team at Ann Arbor Saturday. The Birmingham grid star will have plenty of competition for the position this season from John Lindell, Detroit. Don Eiland, another Detroiter, who made good in the backfield last season, may be switched to the pivot job.

Coach H. O. (Fritz) Crisler admits his Michigan gridders have shown considerable improvement in the past two weeks, but that doesn't mean any extra rest for the squad before the opener Saturday.

Realizing the Seahawks have the edge in experience, Crisler puts his charges through a scrimmage session Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. A gradual tapering off with little or no contact work will begin Thursday.

Three veterans probably will be in the starting backfield. Capt. Bob Wiese at fullback, Joe Ponsetto at quarter, and Bob Nussbaumer at tailback. Ralph Chubb, Ann Arbor, who was a reserve last year, is slated for the wingback post.

In the line the most likely starters are Dick Rifenberg, Saginaw freshman, and Bruce Hilkene at the ends; letterman Clem Bauman and Mike Lazetich at tackle and George Burg and Roger Chiaverini at guard.

Local Rifle Team In Victory Over G.M.C.

A five-man rifle team from the Birmingham Rifle club defeated a team from the General Motors Truck last Sunday at the local rifle range.

Each man fired 20 shots at 50 yards and 20 shots at 100 yards.

The final team score was 1895 to 1641 out of a possible 2,000.

Individual scores of the local shooters were: C. B. Clark 388, L. E. Smith 382, E. J. Brown 381, Wm. Kramer 378 and Wm. Story 366.

So She Did!

"Have you ever been married?" asked the judge.

"Yes-s," stammered the prisoner.

"To whom?"

"A woman, sir," answered the prisoner.

"Of course it was a woman," snapped the judge. "Did you ever hear of anyone marrying a man?"

"My sister did," said the prisoner brightly.
