TODAY all the service war allows

TOMORROW all the service you can use

There just won't be enough telephone service for everyone who wants it until the telephone system can be greatly expanded. The expansion of the telephone system cannot be started

- until war needs are greatly reduced
- until manpower and materials are available
- until manufacture can be diverted from war

Right now, there is a long and growing waiting list. But orders for telephones essential to the war, or to public health, welfare or security, are filled promptly. As facilities are made available through present users giving up service, other orders are filled under a uniform and fair procedure provided for in War Production Board orders and in tariffs filed with the proper governmental bodies.

Looking ahead, Michigan Bell contemplates the largest, most rapid expansion and improvement program in its history. An expenditure of as much as $120,000,000 may be required for new buildings and additions, cables, lines, central office apparatus and instruments, within a five-year period.

We will welcome the time when this expansion and improvement program can be started. It will provide employment for thousands of people, including our own and many others returning from war. It will provide us with the facilities we want and need—to meet any and every request for telephone service.

* More than 2,000 Michigan Bell men and women are in the armed forces

PLAN FOR THE FUTURE TODAY!

Now is the time to get through with the old gas home out of the street and bring them up to date. You can spend many enjoyable and profitable hours going over them during your vacation at home this year. You will want to check and double check the types of models needed, the arrangement of appliances and, most of all, the benefits, advantages and conveniences your modern all-gas home will provide.

A kitchen that is cool, clean, free from cooking odors... with a new Gas Range that's fast, efficient, the last word in precision cooking. A silent Gas Refrigerator that saves hours of meat planning and marketing. An automatic gas water heating system that will supply all the hot water you need... any time of day or night. And when it comes to comfort... no matter what the weather is outside, your gas air conditioning unit will keep the entire house cool as an ocean breeze in summer... snug and warm all winter long.

You will also find that this is an ideal time to discuss your plans with your architect and your builder. They will help you to get the most for your money. That means good design, good location and, of course, a modern all-gas home.

* NOTICE... Like everyone else these days, we are busy with war work, and that comes first. But we can always find time to talk to people who are going to help the postwar employment problem by building a home. We will work with your architect, your builder or with you to make sure that your all-gas home is planned for the future. Come in, bring your plans with you. This service is FREE.
