U.S. To Leave Most of Arms in Europe

Will Supply New Equipment To Men Shifted To Pacific

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Feb. 1.—Prospects of a speedier end of the Japanese war developed today with disclosure of a plan for a quick shift of troops from Europe to the Pacific once Germany is defeated.

Under this system, described by high sources, troops in Europe will leave the bulk of their equipment on the continent and then re-arm in the Pacific with equipment piled up there from this country.

This could mean a saving of months in throwing the full weight of American forces against the Japanese. The campaign against them already has been described by War Secretary Stimson as ahead of schedule.

A SAVING IN LIVES

The plan will add to war costs, require a continuation of a high rate of production and postpone the day of reconversion.

On the other hand, it was pointed out, it could mean the saving of perhaps thousands of lives that might otherwise be lost in a prolonged campaign.

Another Reason for STICKING TO YOUR WAR JOB

Battle Line or Production Line . . . Every Minute Counts

To save time on the road to Tokyo . . . to save many American lives . . . the Army plans to leave much of its fighting equipment behind when it moves to the Pacific after the defeat of Germany. As pointed out in the clipping above, this plan will require huge stockpiles of additional supplies to re-arm these men when they reach the Pacific. This means that we must make every minute count on the factory front, for millions of tons of matériel must be turned out before that time arrives. Because this year calls for even greater effort in war production with schedules $500,000,000 higher than in 1944 . . . because Oakland County is a great Army arsenal . . . every war worker in this area should stick to his job. Whether he's helping to make trucks or tanks, motors or medicine, bombs or bomber parts, tools or torpedos, or any one of the thousands of other "weapons of war," he should continue to out-produce the Axis until final victory!
