

Some parents try to retain, indefinitely, some control over their children... There comes a time when the best of parents become the worst of parents...

SIXTY-EIGHTH YEAR-NO. 21

and THA

By G. R. A.

Russia Is... Russia!

Personally, insofar as my military ability and courage are concerned, I have nothing but admiration for Russia. Along with millions of other Americans, I also am anxious to see how the Russian fight they made on the Volga front during Germany's invasion of the Soviet Union.

The emergencies of war merge the energies of all nations on one side and the forces of all nations on the other...

Many quite naturally, varying viewpoints are formed...

Four average American observers, who have observed Russia's attitude at San Francisco...

Perhaps Russia will change for the better, democratically speaking...

Let us all hope so—and let us stand firmly behind our own government in its determined effort to bring Russia to the viewpoint of democracy.
