Duck Hunters To Get 80-Day Season

Birmingham duck hunters are going to watch with keen interest the action of the Michigan Conservation Commission meeting at Higgins Lake next Monday when the commission will be called upon to pass on the new national regulations governing the coming hunting season for migratory game birds.

As announced from the White House, the regulations provide for 80-day open seasons. The entire regulations are subject to approval in Michigan, by the Conservation Commission, but local sportsmen desire these regulations if any changes from the regulations just approved by President Truman.

The daily bag limit for ducks was set at 10, eliminating last year's provisions for an additional daily bag of five Mallards, pintails or wildgeese.

In the northern zone, which includes Michigan, the waterfowl hunting season will begin Sept. 20, and end Dec. 8. With certain exceptions, hunting will be permitted from half an hour before sunrise until sunset.

Taking of waterfowl by means of live duck or goose decoys continues to be prohibited. The season for woodcock in Michigan, under the Upper Peninsula will be Oct. 1 to Oct. 15; in the remainder of the state, Oct. 15 to Oct. 25.

Daily bag limits on ducks (except American and red-breasted mergansers) are 10 in the aggregate of all kinds, including in such limit not more than one wood duck.

Any person at any time may possess not more than 20 ducks in the aggregate of all kinds (not including American and red-breasted mergansers), but no more than one woodduck, American and red-breasted mergansers 25 singly or in the aggregate with no possession limit.

Local hunters today expressed the hope that the ban on ammunition hunting for half an hour before the hunting season opens. Some few hunters have a few shells left for the upland bird season and some have shells for the duck hunting. It is expected that there will be some shells on sale at stores, but hunters say the supply likely will fall far short of the demand.

Cranbrook Tennis Winners Repeat At Kalamazoo Tourney

Herbert Flam, Beverly Hills, Calif., and Dick Mouldous, New Orleans, who won the Cranbrook Junior and boys tennis titles respectively at Cranbrook two weeks ago, repeated their win at Kalamazoo, Saturday, when they captured the National Junior and Boys Tennis tournament titles.

They gained their titles without too much trouble in the final of the national tournament at Kalamazoo College's Stowe courts. Flam, winner of the Boys' title from a few years ago, defeated Bernard (Tat) Barzen, of San Angelo, Texas, 6-3, 6-4, 6-4. Barzen, sophomore at William and Mary College, was runner-up last year to Bob Falkenberg.

Flam, who won the boys' title in 1944 Boys' meet, had little difficulty whipping George Gentry, of Philadelphia, 6-2.

Neither of the new champions lost a set in six days of play, but they were not without a few strong fields. Mouldous was seeded first but Flam was rated behind. Excited from an unbuttoned season that included victory over the young Texan in the final of the boys' meet at River Forest, Ill., Junior meet.

Chuck Rutan of Birmingham was 10 strokes out of first place at the conclusion of Monday's final round of the Michigan Open golf championship at Grand Rapids. The title fell to Chuck Kocsis, Detroit amateur, who won the honor 14 years ago in the same course.

Chuck's home course is Red Run, near a farm operator at Springport, whose final total was 284. Al Watson of Oakland Hills was up among the final leaders with a 288 to tie Jimmy Johnson of Glen Oaks club in fifth place. Al had won the championship five times since 1936.

Al Kocsis, of Pontiac, a brother of Chuck, showed a 294 card while Jimmy Gentry, assistant to Bird at Plum Hollow, scored a 295.

Chuck Kocsis was playing as an amateur. His request for reinstatement to the state tourney was before the state body. Byrd was the low pro and his share in the event was $400.

This is the end of the tournament play for a few days and the pros will back to their home clubs at least for a few days.
