Margaret Hadjisky Carries Antique Bibelot at Wedding

At a lovely church service read by the Rev. Warner L. Forsyth at 8:30 Friday evening, Jan. 28, Margaret Elizabeth Hadjisky spoke her wedding vows to Thomas Muszk.

brocade styled with a sweetheart neckline, long sleeves and train. Her veil of tulle fell from a wreath of stephanotis and she carried a Bibelot, an antique book brought from Russia by her father. It had been the gift of a Russian prince from her tutor and is over 140 years old. A spray of gardenias and stephanotis was carried with the small book of white vellum.

Margaret's sister, Joan, was her only attendant. She wore a gown of turquoise chiffon and carried a bouquet of Easter lilies. Her head-dress was a beehive comb of English Honiton lace.

The best man was Edward McDonald, of Ann Arbor, and Ensign Eugene Hadjisky, brother of the bride, and Ensign Dan Saulson seated the guests.

Following the service a reception was held in the parish house which was beautifully decorated with flowers and was all in candlelight. Mrs. Hadjisky received her guests wearing a long grey crepe dress and a floral hat of roses. Her corsage was of deep red roses. Mrs. Muszk wore a blue crepe dress and a black sequin hat. Her flowers were gardenias.

When the couple left for their short wedding trip, Mrs. Muszk wore a scarlet wool suit with brown accessories and carried a brown sash bag, a gift of the bridegroom from Africa.

Mr. and Mrs. Muszk are awaiting traveling priorities for Liberia, West Africa, where Mr. Muszk will continue his research work for Firestone.
