They were signed by the principal, Mr. Robinson, and the class president, Dick Adams, who is now attending Baldwin high school.

Birmingham Drops Close Game To Ferndale Team

In a real heartbreaker Birmingham's court team was bested by a determined Ferndale squad last Friday 40-34. Mazade, a range pivot man with a hard-to-block shot, upped the Maple their biggest headache, scoring 16 points from the pivot post. In the previous encounter the tall center had been thoroughly checked, but Friday he ran wild, seemingly unlesshing some secret weapon.

Close All The Way

The locals played a scrappy type of ball game, and with the exception of Mazade's frequent scores, were not outplayed at any time. Halftime score was 17-17. Even at the three quarters mark, Ferndale led by a score of only 31-29. Birmingham's accuracy at the basket wasn't at its best, but on foul shots the locals missed only two, while making 14. Their floor play and defense were good. The Ferndale quint was a much taller team than for man than the one Birmingham placed on the floor. It was this superiority in height that accounted mostly for their effectiveness under the baskets, and their stiff defense.

Tommy Woodhouse again led the locals with 10 points, bringing his season total to 75 points. The best hour crowd of the season was the contest.

Reserves Win 50 to 5

Baldwin's reserve squad steam-rolled Ferndale's visiting reserves, producing the season's highest score at 50-5. Previously defeated by the Lincoln team, the locals really got their revenge in big doses, winning by what looks like a football score.

Bob Dacochner led the locals with 14 points while Mohian was high point man for Ferndale with 4.

Teamwork was flawless, each man who replaced another fitting exactly into the style of play and contributing his quota of points.

The high quality of defensive play is indicated not only by the low score but by the fact that only two field goals were scored by Ferndale in the entire game.

Girls' League Picks Officers

Election of Girls' League representatives from each homeroom in Baldwin was completed last Friday.

The tenth grade representatives are: Evangeline Thomas, Lets Petteau, Ruth Kadel, Margaret Erwin, Alice Grant-Waters, Mary Ann Wilkinson, and Mary Betts.

Girls chosen from the eleventh grade are Martha Fox, Joan Gove, Virginia McChesney, Barbara A. Birmingham, Clara Lee White, Maxine Le Roux, and Mary Ann Norcott.

The seniors selected Kay Brumbaum, Margery Phent, Betty Holmies, Lois Brown, Gwen Chapman, Lee Pearson, and Carolyn Wells.

Miss Snob—That may be—but I'm glad I'm not one of them.

Karl Krueger on Visit to Cranbrook, Monday

Karl Krueger, right, Music Director of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra was welcomed to Cranbrook Monday evening when he conducted a special program for the students, faculties, and staffs of the various Cranbrook institutions by W. Brooke Stabler, headmaster of Cranbrook School.

A special St. Valentine's Day assembly was held at Baldwin High School last Wednesday. Lovelorn couples labeled as "going steady" were paraded on a mammoth paper heart to the accompaniment of appropriate verse and songs.

Harry Suttle sang "Bicycle Built for Two" for Jeanne Holm and Andy Burlingame; Gwen Chapman sang "For a Little Two" for Diane Holmson and Pete Good; a quartette composed of Harry Warner, Charles Van Fluten, John Dalton and Bob Erwig rendered "Katy" in honor of Dawn Hagan and Tom Cook; Doris Minks played "Love's Old Song" on the violin for Franny Newell and Bob Warner; Harry Suttle sang "Singing Nellie" in honor of Barbara Fox and Jim Watt; Bob Tyson, "I Surrender, Dear" for Norma Swisher and Johnny Anderson; Clara Gordon sang "Jim" for Joy Stark and Jim Lamb.

Whispering" in honor of Mary Kay Smith and Don Budd. The quartette repeated with "Sweetheart of Sigma Chi" for Marilyn Black and her multiple beaux, Steve Miller, Bob Dueschner, and Chuck Murray.

Bob Tyson sang "I Dream of You" to Franny Newell and Ted Erwig; Ted Mansfield sentimentalized "It Had to Be You" for Barb Black and Frank Chapman; Gwen Chapman, "Bill" for Marty Fox and Bill Bone; Bob Tyson crooned "Two in Love" for Barb Flues and Larry Pomeroy and Ted Mansfield brought the assembly to a close with "I'm Beginning to See the Light" for Jan Coll and Joe Higgins.

This entertaining tableau was managed by Pudge Colburne and the stage effects by Harriet Thompson and Nancy Pomeroy.

The regular assembly was conducted last Friday by the 10-B's. Randall Garrison opened the show with feats of legslimness. The Barnum double quartette sang and the show closed with a clever impersonation by Peter Torrey, assisted by Dick Jeffers and Jim Tugue.

Harry Wagner was announcer.

Farmington Coming Here Friday Night For Return Battle

The Birmingham cagers will be out for revenge for a 45-25 setback earlier in the season when they met Farmington here Friday at 8 o'clock in Baldwin gym.

Since that meeting Farmington has defeated Northville twice, Wayne, Milford, and Country Day, while losing to Keesee Harbor, Walled Lake twice, and Milford.

They have seven returning lettermen on the squad, four of whom were regulars last year. Like Birmingham they were untouched by midyear graduation.

Bad Axe Lights the Way!

BEFORE
68 overhead lamps . . . 2000 lumens each
49 ornamental lamps . . . 2500 lumens each
1 ornamental lamp . . . 1000 lumens each
118 lamps totaling . . . 285,500 lumens

AFTER
78 overhead lamps . . . 1,000 lumens each
11 overhead lamps . . . 2,500 lumens each
46 overhead lamps . . . 6,000 lumens each
22 ornamental lamps . . . 10,000 lumens each
137 lamps totaling . . . 601,500 lumens

In 1938 the forward-looking leaders of Bad Axe asked Detroit Edison engineers to provide the community with better street lighting. And they got it: modern directional luminaires . . . twice as much light . . . more than threefold improvement in visibility . . . all at a remarkably small extra cost per year because of the higher efficiency of larger lamps.

And the engineers solved the problem of that alley behind the main street. They placed 6000-lumen overhead lamps where the alley intersects the side streets, thus (a) lighting the alley and (b) the parking areas off the main street (c) building up light intensity approaching the main street; (d) helping to promote business activity on the side streets.

The residents of Bad Axe are enthusiastic about their street lighting, which protects children and pedestrians . . . does the motorist a good turn . . . helps merchants . . . and gives additional sparkle to the town.

How is the street lighting in YOUR community? Our engineers will be glad to discuss a postwar plan now.
