SYNTHETIC RUBBER. How does synthetic rubber compare with natural rubber? Will it be "put on the shelf" as a discarded war emergency material when real rubber is once more available? Not at all. Used in insulation for wires and sheaths for cables, some synthetic rubbers are better than the real thing. They are unaffected by conditions which cause natural rubber to deteriorate, our Research Laboratory finds. They do not crack or check in sunlight or under exposure to the ozone generated by some high-voltage electrical equipment.

SUGAR SAVER. If you are short on sugar, try this recipe from our Home Service Department: Maple Syrup Cake. 1 egg, 2 tbsps melted shortening, 1 cup maple syrup, 1 1/2 cups flour, 1/2 cup milk, 1 tsp salt, 1 1/2 tsp vanilla, 1/2 tsp baking powder. Beat the egg thoroughly; add the maple syrup, then the milk, vanilla, melted shortening and lastly the dry ingredients sifted together. Beat thoroughly and bake about 45 minutes in a moderate oven—375° F.—in a deep loaf-cake pan, preferably of the tube variety. Frost with maple frosting and decorate with halved walnuts or pecans, or sprinkle chopped nuts over the frosting before it sets.

OUT OF MIND. Because house wiring is buried in the walls out of sight, it is usually "out of mind"—and little understood. But don't think it isn't important! It carries the "life blood" of the modern house—the flow of electricity. And just as a too-small pipe can lessen the flow of water in your plumbing, so can a too-small wire choke off the flow of electricity. Don't deny yourself enjoyment of dozens of postwar electric appliances because of inadequate house wiring. If you are planning a new home, be sure your wiring is large enough to allow full use of tomorrow's electrical living.

SEVEN STORIES OF STEAM. To make the steam that drives the turbines in Edison power plants, huge steam generators are used—each one as high as a seven-story building. One such generator gulps 17 tons of coal and 40,000 gallons of water per hour. —The Detroit Edison Co. Serving more than half the people of Michigan

Among the Bible citations in this passage (Psalm 119:105) "Let the words of my mouth, and the meditation of my heart, be acceptable in thy sight, O Lord, my strength, and my helper." The relative passages in the text from the Christian Science textbook Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (page 81): "We confess to having a very wicked heart and ask that it may be laid bare to us, but do we not already know more of this heart than we are willing to have our neighbor see? We should examine ourselves and learn what is the affection and purpose of the heart, for in this way we can learn what we honestly are."

HAULING FOOD for FIGHTERS

YOU ARE NEEDED AT GMC TRUCK & COACH TO HELP BUILD THE ARMY'S NO. 1 TRANSPORT TRUCK

Military equipment has been radically changed through the centuries but the old saying that "an army marches on its stomach" still goes today. Food is one of the most vital supplies required by our forces, and the 2 1/2-ton GMC "six-by-six" military truck plays a most vital part in moving it from beachhead to battle line. The average soldier eats more than 5 pounds of food daily, nearly twice as much as the average civilian. When you multiply that by the millions of men overseas, you can get some idea of the tremendous task which faces the Services of Supply. You can get an idea of the huge quantities of trucks that are needed, too, when you are told that around 2,000 are needed for every 15,000 men. The Army has asked GMC Truck & Coach to increase the production of these fighting trucks and GMC, in turn, is asking men in the Pontiac area to pitch in now and help them do it.
