

Reserves Upset Mt. Clemens 28-23

By JACK GERRARD

In their hardest-fought, toughest game of the season Baldwin's reserves finally defeated the Mt. Clemens five 28-23. Of the Maples' 28 points, 16 came on foul shots. Tension was at its peak throughout the battle, as the lead changed hands many times.

Four Mt. Clemens players were given for fouling. Early in the game the local fans set up a roar.

Mt. Clemens Wins From Locals By Tune of 45 to 21

By JACK GERRARD

A great superiority in height enabled a fast, experienced Mt. Clemens five to smother Birmingham's basketballs 45-21 last Friday at Mt. Clemens. The height of the victors made it difficult to penetrate their stiff defense, and their accuracy at one-handed shots from all over the floor made it unnecessary for them to penetrate the Maples' defense.

The Bathers played an orthodox offensive game: a type of play that makes every man a dangerous scoring threat. The size of the team made their play even more advisable. A tall man making the one-hand jump shot that the home team specialized in is seldom blocked. Even if the shot was missed, the victors were fairly sure of possession on the rebound.

Mt. Clemens took the lead in the first quarter 14-9 and was never seriously threatened. The last quarter found the Maples throwing a barrage of long passes that caught the Bathers unaware but netted little for the Maroons who showed superiority in speed in this quarter but uncertain ball handling and erratic passing.

Tom Woodhouse again led the Maples with 10 points while Graas scored Mt. Clemens with 15 points. Bruce Sanders was captain for the team.

Baldwin's cagers will be seeking revenge for this setback when they again oppose Mt. Clemens next Tuesday at 8 o'clock in Baldwin gym.

The first game will start at seven o'clock when the reserve teams meet.

BALDWIN HIGHLIGHTS

By ANN NONIMOUS

Hi, Kids!

Annie is still a wee bit confused after last Saturday night. The annual toasty-turkey dance brought many of the local girls out in fathers' cars to escort their dates in true toasty-turkey fashion. However, many of the girls did not make it to the dance.

Dawn Haugan, Mary Jean, Forsyth, Ruth Harrell, Nancy Meyer, Sylvia Lee, Betty Lee, and Barbara, prepared an appetizing dinner for their dates who were Tom Cookerly, Ed Smith, Pete Good, Bruce Sander, Connie Adams, and Ralph Backus, respectively. After filling themselves with luscious food, they piled into Dawn's car, which whisked them off to the movie.

Finally arrive at the dance they found scores of Birminghamites enjoying the grand occasion were Juanita Pearson, Ray Bell, Elaine Smith, Bob Wolf, Janet Walker, Dan Austin, Betty Lee, Lander, Bob King, Polly Hanson, Max Cornell, Barbara White, Jim Kauchon, Mary Lee, Donald Murray, Sally Kreidler, Bill Sproull, Mary Kay Smith, Don Duell, Dianne Helgeson, Pete Good, Barbara Flies, and Larry Pomeroy.

Others were Jo Flues, Bruce McLintock, Jim Van Winkle, Chuck Van Pleteren, Gwen O'Rourke, Bud Atkins, Lee Bargar, Tom Cichow, Wally Lou Holland, Tom Ritter, Jeanne Helgeson, Andy Burlingame, Jean Wyckoff, John Nichols, Norma Sautter, John Anderson, Nancy Pierce, Jim Lamb, Pudwee Colgrove, Dick Daeschner, Harry Fox, Bill Bones, Barbara Fox, Jim Watt, Nancy Chapel, Joe Bowen, Joy Stark, Bob Trindley, Marilyn Black, Steve Miller, Barbara Black, and Frank Mimminger.

As usual the stag line was long and Annie certainly did think it looked prettier than ever. Those playing the part of true stags were Marjorie Phaeat, Helen Mack, Marge Smith, Lois Brown, Marina McKinney, Donna Polczynski, Grace Mack, Dorothy Adams, Glenda Schlaack, Dorothy Potter, Sue Collins, Ruth McCullough, and Joan Pasher.

Many of the girls took their dates to nearby hotels for refreshments after the dance.

Annie is sure that all had a marvelous time and will never forget the fun they had.

Annie guesses it's so long for now because she has the writer's cramp and with exams coming up—!

Love, ANNIE.

High School Students At Bloomfield Hills Air School Problems

On Friday, January 19, a student forum was conducted and Roy Noyes, president of the student council, was chairman. Seven students from grades seven through twelve, appeared on the panel. They were: Margie Stankovic from the twelfth grade; Al DeLiel from the eleventh; Marjorie Baker and Chap McDonnell from the tenth; Jimmy Bay from the ninth; Mary Booth from the eighth; and Buddy Martin from the seventh.

After the forum the students discussed their various home-rooms to discuss further the question and give any new suggestions to their student council representatives.

Later on in the day a Student Council meeting was held and the different plans discussed. Two plans were decided upon and a committee was chosen to work on each plan.

One of the plans concerns a semester system and the other a system of competition. Reports from these two committees will be turned in at the next Student Council meeting.

Russian tea was served by Mrs. McLeese and square dancing followed.

Bond Premier Picture Returns to B'ham

The Birmingham theatre, announcing the parade of hits is on its way, now brings a return showing of the Bond Premier picture, "Dragon Seed," for the week, starting Friday. Starting Monday and continuing through next Thursday there is to be a single showing of this program each evening.

Eleven Nobel prize winners are among the recent refugees.

The picture spreads a message of brotherly love in its demonstration of the mutual benefits received both by refugees and by the nation of their adoption.
