Do you want to "PUT THE HEAT ON THE JAPS?"

You've seen them in the movies and magazines and newspapers—those portable flame throwers our fighting men use to burn the Japs out of their caves and pillboxes. It takes courage as well as chemicals to do that job. It also takes tin! And that's where you come in! For you can help supply the precious tin needed to make those flame throwers! How? By saving all your used tin cans and preparing them for salvage—because there's enough pure tin in just 23 ordinary tin cans to make a portable flame thrower! The reason America is short on tin is because the Japs have cut off most of our regular supply. But they can't cut off our "home supply"—because that's coming from every loyal American home in the land—coming from tin cans which you can help furnish. Think of that the next time you're about to throw a can away. Then, instead—

Remember... TIN is a "precious metal" that goes to war in hundreds of ways. TIN cans make protective containers for blood plasma, medicines, foods. TIN goes into every field telephone and radio, into every cannon, machine gun, and hand grenade. Practically everything that rolls, flies, fights, or that feeds, heals, or saves our men—needs TIN! And America's only "tin mine" are in your kitchen!

The insect hordes have started their annual invasion of the Victory Garden and now is the time for the beekeeper to arm himself with a spray of insecticide and stage a counter attack. The cabbage worm is busy feeding on forming cabbages and other cabbage family crops. Keep these plants covered with a repellent made of a fine mist of water worm-free broccoli and whole cabbage.

The European corn-borer moth is laying its eggs on unsuspecting young plants. A network of threads directed into the growing whorl of the plant will help control the borer. This web and dust once a week during July.

Tension—the interplay of opposed forces—adds dramatic quality to a picture. For this, 1/50 second at f/8.3, "gan" film, yellow color filter.

SPORTS and action pictures are an ideal field for any camera. If you have a camera with a fast lens and shutter or one of the modern ultra-speed miniature. Drama is the essence of the sports picture. Tension—the struggle of the opposed forces—provides the essential quality. Tap expression of the runner's face, the strain of the pole-vaulter's arms as he holds himself over the bar—these are the details that make action pictures outstanding.
