

Lewis-Dalce Vows Spoken Saturday

The First Methodist Church of Dearborn was the scene of the wedding of Irah Gertrude Lewis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Lewis, of Dearborn, and William W. Dalce, son of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Dalce, of Piquette road, Saturday evening, July 14.

The double ring service was read by the Rev. Davies, before the altar decorated with palms, lighted tapers, and bouquets of white larkspur and gladioli.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white chiffon gown with a lace bodice. Her finger ring veil was held in place by a tiara of pearls, and she carried a bouquet of white carnations, gardenias and lily-of-the-valleys.

The bride's sister, Geraldine, was her only attendant, and she wore a gown of pink marquisette with a matching shoulder length veil and carried a bouquet of roses and delphinium.

The bridegroom's father officiated at the ceremony, and he and his wife, Mrs. Dalce, were seated at the head of the table.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Lewis chose a powder blue, street length dress with which she wore white accessories and a corsage of tea roses. Mrs. Dalce wore a street length dress in a shade of aqua with a pink hat. Her accessories were white and her corsage was of pink roses.

Following the reception in the church parlors, the couple left for their wedding trip in Canada. Mrs. Dalce wore for traveling a brown gabardine suit with white accessories.
