Twilight Concert To Be Given Tomorrow Evening At Library

The fifth of the "Twilight concerts" is planned for tomorrow evening, July 27, from 7 to 8:30 p.m. These concerts consist of recorded music played at Baldwin Public Library in the main reading room every Friday evening.

This week's program is planned to include the following: I call upon Thee, Jesus (Arranged for orchestra) Tocatta & Fugue in D minor, both by J. S. Bach; Vocalist (arr. for orchestra) by Bach; minuet; Debussy's Prelude to the afternoon of a Faun; Liszt's Les Preludes and the Mandelstam Violin concerto in E minor, played by Yehudi Menuhin.

There is no admission charge. Patrons are invited to come and sit through the program, or just listen while selecting books.

The AP reports that a man applied for a gas stove priority to the OPA because "I have always had a good wood stove but now my wife is sick and can no longer bring in the wood."

Birthday Party For James B. Talman, Jr.

Mrs. Earl D. Rutherford, of Paritan road, gave a birthday party yesterday for her small grandson, Jimmy B. Talman, Jr., who celebrated his third birthday. Jimmy is the son of Mrs. Jean Rutherford Talman, who is spending several weeks here with her parents from her home in Pasadena, Cal.

Guests of Jimmy's were Anne Alexander, Joan Vinton, Paul Cochran, Don Bathrick, Lynn and John Chick, Bobbie Black, Gerald and Geraldine Barnes, Josephine and Bill Walker, and Dana and Ann Seeley. Mrs. Talman returned Tuesday from Bay City after spending the week end with friends.

Birmingham Girl Scouts Close Busy And Happy Camping Season For Eighty-four Girls At Cabin In Springdale Park

The Birmingham Girl Scout Council Day Camp at Springdale Park, over! The happy memories are left in the minds of Scouts and Brownies.

The intermediates took over Springdale Cabin on July 9th and until the 13th there was not a dull moment. The weather was perfect and the first aid record—aside from minor scratches and bites—was also perfect.

Cook Out of Doors

One part of each noon day meal was cooked out of doors. Different types of cookery were used. One day the open fire, another a tin can stove, another green stick cookery. The girls did all the preparing of food and each unit provided cooks and clean-up girls.

The group was divided into units according to the age of the girl and each unit held forth in a little campsite created by the group. Tables were lashed between trees and fireplaces built. Here the cooking and eating were done.

Cranbrook Summer School Of Theatre Will Present Series Of Three Plays

A new arrangement of "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" adapted to the Greek Theatre stage by Mrs. Carl Wonnberger, will be the full-length presentation of intermediates and juniors of the Cranbrook Summer School of the Theatre in their closing offering on Friday, August 3, at 8:30 p.m., according to an announcement made today by Carl G. Wonnberger, director of the school. This annual children's performance, the first open to the public during this season, will be under the direction of Mrs. Wonnberger and Miss Patricia Nowhill, Miss Nancy Neuman will have charge of the dance sequences.

All major parts will be taken by girl students in the Junior and Intermediate Divisions and by boys enrolled as Seniors. Casting has not yet been completed.

During the week of August 6 the seniors will present two performances of Clifford Goldsmith's Henry Aldrich play "What A Life!"—both under the direction of Miss Ruth Hull. During the same week post-graduate students and seniors will unite to put on the Drayton Kaufmann comedy "First Lady" under the direction of Mr. Wonnberger and Mrs. Thomas B. Anderson.

Editor Storer, stage manager for Cranbrook's Experimentory will have charge of staging for all three shows, and will be assisted by a crew composed of students and faculty.

Following the Greek Theatre performances several trips to service units throughout the area are in prospect.
