

Pontiac Motors Changes Over Part Of Plant Operation

The feat of moving an entire operation without loss of production has been accomplished at Pontiac Motor Division. H. J. Kieglert, general manager, revealed today.

To make room for approaching automobile production, Pontiac's M-24 tank axle job was moved, machine by machine, from the plant it had filled for nearly three years to space in another Pontiac Motor plant a quarter of a mile away.

Production was studied and a moving schedule set up so that only those machines actually in transit remained idle. Machines in the former Tank Axle Plant and those in the new location remained in operation as the moving continued without a break in the production sequence.

Proceeding at the same time was the movement of automobile machinery into the places occupied by the tank axle machinery.

"Statement" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science Churches throughout the world on Sunday, July 8.
"The Golden Text (1 Cor. 11:24) is: 'As often as ye eat the bread and drink this cup, ye do show the Lord's death till he come.'
Among the Bible Nations in this passage (1st John 1:7), 'The sacrifices of God are a broken spirit; a broken and a contrite heart; to God, these will not despise.'
Conciliatory messages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following: "The burden of sin; weighing the loads of all the impurities of flesh; studies that the pure in heart see God and are approaching spiritual life and its consummation."

State's Wild life Threatened By Meat Shortage

LANSING—The growing meat shortage poses a real threat to Michigan's game and fish and the conservation department is moving to curtail violations of state laws that protect both.

Stiff penalties will be demanded for violators of closed season regulations in the case of game and for taking of undomesticated fish by commercial fishermen.

Deer have a boisterous market value now of between $10 and $20, a record price that is certain to tempt violators who are known to sell deer to wolverine hunters during open seasons in normal times for as little as $10.

Whitefish at around 30 cents a pound at the docks—with prices of other species scaled accordingly—is a temptation to sell undomesticated fish in recent weeks.

In fact, the department has confiscated thousands of pounds of undomesticated and misbranded fish in recent weeks.

A complicating factor in the case of deer is that venison is tender and most excellent in summer when deer are feeding on green vegetation.

Phosgene also are expected to be an illegal target of meat hunters before the season opens. Rabbits and squirrels are not good food in summer months and may not be hunted so commonly.

Department 118 w enforcement officials will concentrate forces in areas where violations of game laws are most likely to occur and speak mysteriously of other plans to make such violations an unprofitable occupation.

Obituary

J. Ward Ruckham
J. Ward Ruckham, advertising agent for the Home Finance Co., New Orleans, La., died Thursday, June 21, at the Baptist hospital after an illness of three months. As a young boy he spent his summer vacations at the home of his maternal grandparents at the S.E. corner of Brown and Bates streets. His aunt, Lucy Ward Hendrick, worked for several years for Mr. Mitchell in the old Electric office on Spencet street, and it was there he spent most of his time during his vacations in Birmingham and gained his first knowledge of the printing business.

A native of Washington, D. C., he was a graduate of the University of Minnesota, where he received a bachelor of arts degree, and of the University of Wisconsin, where he received a master's of arts degree. He was a member of Beta Theta Pi and for the past year and a half had been a member of the United States Coast Guard Post Security Force. He was 50 years old.

He is survived by his widow, the former Beatrice Tanner, three daughters, and his father, John H., also of New Orleans, La. His mother was the late Stella Ward Ruckham, formerly of Birmingham.

James A. Dant
James A. Dant, 1356 Whore Lane, died suddenly July 1 at Hays hospital where he had been admitted previous to undergoing surgery. He was born June 15, 1880, in Palmetto, Mich., and attended school at Bay City, Mich. On Sept. 7, 1904, he was married to Sara McMillan in Chicago. A period in Birmingham, he came to Birmingham from Detroit ten years ago.

Mr. Dant was a member of the Macona, the D.A.C., and the Blount Hill Country Club. Besides his widow he is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Myron E. Singler, of Birmingham, and a sister, Miss Lena Dant, Bay City.

Service will be held at 2:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon at the Bell funeral home with burial in White Chapel cemetery.

More Troops in the Pacific Need More "Duck" Transport More Workers Are Needed Now on GMC's Afternoon Shift

The GMC "Duck"—a most vital invasion vehicle—is destined to play a prominent part in future amphibious assaults against the Japs. Traveling with equal ease on land or water, it is a "natural" for Pacific island warfare. That's why "Duck" production must be increased... and that's why GMC Truck & Coach must have more help immediately!

Yes, action in the Pacific calls for plenty of action on the part of many additional men and women in the Pontiac area. If you are not in essential war work, join the thousands of workers who are making a great contribution to the war effort by helping to build the "Duck" at GMC. You'll find a wide variety of well-paid, interesting jobs available. Factory experience is not necessary. Come in today to do your duty for the duration.
