

Mrs. A. E. Saunders Married Saturday

At a quiet service read Saturday afternoon in the chancel of Christ Church Cranbrook by the Rev. Charles H. Cadigan, Mrs. Anthony Elden Saunders, of Rantoul, of Franklin, spoke their marriage vows.

William B. Saunders gave his mother in marriage and Robert N.

Woodruff, Jr. was his father's best man. The bride wore a dove gray suit, a pale blue flowered hat, and a corsage of camellias and white violets.

Her daughter, Prudence, an maid of honor, wore a yellow suit and a blue hat and Ann Woodruff, bridesmaid, wore a chartruese suit with a white hat. Both girls carried bouquets of pastel snapdragons.

Following the ceremony there was a small reception for members of the families at the bride's home.

Mr. and Mrs. Woodruff will make their home on Pilgrim road.

Barbara Booth Married In Beautiful White Satin Gown

Before the altar of Christ Church Cranbrook, glees were carefully against a background of calla lilies, Barbara Alice Booth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Scripps Booth, of Bloodfield Hills, became the bride of Ensign Gordon Craig, U.S.N.R., son also of the Hills, Saturday evening at 8:30 o'clock. The Rev. Charles H. Cadigan officiated.

Barbara's gown, an original named "the gown of roses" was fashioned of ivory silk satin and net. The fitted bodice was accented at the neckline by a deep yoke of silk illusion appliqued with roses. This same pattern was carried out on the net panels at the front and sides of the hoop skirt. The plain panel of satin in the back ended in a circular train. A single rose formed the calot from which fell her fingertip veil of illusion. She carried a colonial bouquet of white roses edged with variegated ivy.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attended by her three sisters, Marjorie, Sally and Dorothy Booth, and the bridegroom's sisters, Shirley and Jill Craig. They wore identical gowns of starched aqua tulle edged with fitted bodices with heart-shaped necklines. The full skirts with two ruffles at the hem ended in tiny sweeps of trains. Their headresses were of matching starched chiffon, ruffled and caught at each side with flowers of the same shade.

Marjorie, as honor attendant, carried a colonial bouquet of Sally roses. The bridesmaid's bouquets were of American Beauty roses.

Seating the guests were Lt. Robert Craig, U.S.N.R., brother of the bridegroom; James Craig, of Chicago, cousin of the bridegroom; Leonard Miller, the bridegroom's brother-in-law, and Robert Skinner, of Detroit.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents immediately following the wedding. Mrs. Booth received her guests wearing a dinner gown of Brazilian green crepe, with which she wore a small hat of pale

The Art of Living WELL

Vigorous good health is essential to the full realization of all that life holds forth in happiness and opportunity, yet many who are "old enough to know better" neglect their health shamefully. The art of living WELL is simple. Live sensibly... eat nutritious foods in a well-balanced diet... exercise moderately, regularly—but if we could give you only one rule for good health, it would be this: See your doctor promptly when you feel below par... see him occasionally even when you feel "in the pink."
