Birmingham Boy Scouts are making quite a reputation for sticking to their scouting and just recently two Eagle Scouts made known their plans to "keep right on" with their scouting activities. George Allen and Henry Price, members of the Boy Scout troop, sponsored by the Rotary Club, told Scoutmaster Dan Millman that they were going to push ahead into the Senior Scouting program. They are busy on tasks to earn Eagle palms and, friends say, people need not be surprised to hear of some fine Scouting trips and the awarding of more honors before the year is over.
