First Needlework Guild Breakfast Is Complete Success

Flows of hand-blown Mexican glass filled with green plants or chunky white candles, and Latin-American baskets piled with fruit lent an air of charm and informality to the U-shaped table at the first Needlework Guild breakfast, October 24, at the Community House.

Upon the main buffet table were gleaming brass candlesticks, glowing candles, and enormous "paniers" of blanchon and sugar buns. Between 80 and 90 members, in handsome tweeds or full suits, attended; the largest number ever to gather at a Guild affair. Mrs. Lawrence C. Howe, president of the Birmingham-Bloomfield Hills Branch, was ably assisted with the unusual interest and opened the annual meeting with a cordial greeting to the many newcomers.

Reports emphasizing the year's efforts and achievements were presented by Mrs. Marvin G. Kim, secretary; Mrs. Fred C. Pew, treasurer; and Mrs. George T. Jeffers, who has headed the distribution committee. In commenting upon this year's ingathering Mrs. Howe later said, "It is heart-warming to realize that hard work and loyal effort on the part of our members has culminated in the most successful ingathering ever held. Results now show not only a notable advance in the quantity of garments collected, but also in their quality, which is indeed most gratifying."

Families of many service men are particularly interested in the help which has been extended by the Guild through the American Red Cross Home Service.

Anne Whitney Welch Bride Of Prince De Bardeleben

Wearing a lovely gown of angel white satin, Anne Whitney Welch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gale Welch of Bloomfield Hills, became the bride of Prince De Bardeleben, Jr., USNA, son of Mr. and Mrs. Prince De Bardeleben of Birmingham, Ala., on Saturday evening, Oct. 27, in a beautiful Christ Church, Cranbrook.

The ceremony was read by the Rev. Charles H. Cadigan in a setting of huge bouquets of giant white mums and burning tapers on the altar and along the chancelery.

Anne's bridal gown featured a low round neckline with yoke of illusion, edged with applique of rose pointed lace. Lace also formed points at the wrists of the long-sleeved blouse. Her hood skirt was full and fell to a long court train, and the veil of shimmering illusion which was attached to a crown of matching rose pointed lace, extended beyond the train. The bride's bouquet was of tiny white roses and orchids.

Marjory Booth, the maid-of-honor, was crowned in heavily blue taffeta, fashioned with light bodice, a sweethearts' bow and a long, full skirt. The bridesmaids wore short and gathered; and on the shoulder was a double white mums and English ivy. In a cluster of white, resembling pom-poms as Marjory walked down the aisle in front of the bride.

Patsy Shuell, Peggy De Bardeleben, sister of the bridegroom, Jane Mauseley and Anne Springs, the bride's former roommate at Chatham Hall, wore rose taffeta gowns in the same style as the maid-of-honor. The bridesmaids' bouquets of white mums were identical to that of Marjory Booth's. All of the attendants wore creoles of white-anthraxanthem petals and ivy nestled in their hair.

Mr. De Bardeleben was best man for his son, Ensign Crawford Johnson III and Ensign William Shannon, both of Birmingham, Ala.; William Nathaniel McKitterick, of Saratoga, N. Y., and Wil-

Group Drives From Monroe for Birthday

Mrs. S. A. Samelson, 265 Dimes street, was pleasantly surprised Wednesday, Oct. 31, by five friends from Monroe, Mich., who dropped in to help celebrate her birthday.

After a potluck luncheon, all went to the Mary Utter Group meeting of the Woman's Society of Christian Service at the home of Mrs. Robert Boase on Wallace Street.

The Monroe ladies are members of the W.B.C.S. of St. Paul's Methodist church of that city. Those motoring here for the occasion were Mrs. Edward Nadeau, Mrs. Otto Nelson, Mrs. Mary Hicks, Mrs. Louise Brown, and Miss Alice Kimmerring.

Programs Outlined For Meetings Of Mrs. Sham's Class

A series of interesting programs has been outlined by Mrs. Charles J. Sham of Pierce street for the November meetings of the International Relations Class, which meets each Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock in the Ruth Shain room at the Community House.

Each Tuesday a different program is presented and anyone interested in attending any one or all of these meetings is urged to do so.

On Tuesday, Oct. 30, Norman Cousins' book, "Modern Man Is Obsolete," will be discussed by the group. An unusual demonstration session with illuminated globes, including geography globes, is planned for the November 6 meeting.

The study of a book published by the Foreign Policy Association in its "Huddle Series" and titled "Rippon Jigsaw," is scheduled for Nov. 13. On the following Tuesday, Mrs. Robert Kello, Mrs. H. H. Robinson and Mrs. Colin Campbell will give a three-part presentation with Mrs. Sham as moderator. The topics are "Russia and the United States," "The Future of Japan," and "The Future of Europe."

Mrs. H. Philip Prots will review Professor William C. Johnson's new book, "The Future of Japan," at the meeting Tuesday, Nov. 27. Mrs. Sham is leader of the International Relations Class.

Betty Roberts Speaks To Holy Name P.T.A.

The humane treatment accorded wounded American boys was the underlying theme of Betty Roberts' talk here to the Holy Name P.T.A. group Monday evening at the school hall.

The speaker stressed the scientific discoveries which have been made and the phenomenal treatment of difficult cases constantly returning from the battlefields.

"Miss Roberts' talk," entitled "United States Medicine Man," was compiled as a result of a two months' trip to the various veteran's hospitals throughout the country.

The Rev. Dr. David Duncan closed the program and expressed appreciation of the group to the speaker. Refreshments were then served.

Raietta Clark Tells Of Troth to F. Raymond

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Clark of Berkshire road, announce the engagement of their daughter, Raietta Jane, to Foster Clyde Raymond, grandson of Mrs. Anna Hathaway, Towson, Md.

Both Raietta and Foster graduated from Baldwin High School. Foster has recently been discharged from the Army after serving twenty months in the European Theatre of War.

Wedding plans are being made for an early winter wedding.

Pierce P.T.A. to Hold Annual Open House

The Pierce School Parent Teacher Association will observe its annual open house meeting Wednesday, Nov. 14, at 8 o'clock. All parents of children in all grades are cordially invited to avail themselves of this opportunity to visit classrooms, view the children's work and consult the teachers as to the progress of their children.

Room mothers will be present in each room and will make every effort to acquaint parents with the teaching staff and by have all parents become acquainted with each other.

A brief business meeting will be held in the auditorium preceding the tour to the class rooms. Refreshments will be served during the evening by Mrs. Stanley Ross and her assistants, Mrs. Ross Miller, Mrs. James Balantyne, and Mrs. James L. Thirmer.

Peggy Faucett Weds At Evening Service

On Monday evening, Oct. 22, Peggy M. Faucett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Faucett of Tea Mills Road, became the bride of Norman A. Baker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Otis Baker, of Walled Lake. The Rev. Carl Schuch performed the double ring ceremony at a chapel-like service in the Salem Episcopal and Reformed church.

The bride wore a purpler blue and black tulle gown and a corsage of carnations. Carrie Robinson of Farmington was Pearly's maid-of-honor and Charles Baker, brother of the groom, was best man.

Norman has recently returned from two years overseas service with the Navy. He is an employee of the Michigan Bell Telephone Company.
