

Local Draft Board Expected to Remain in Present Offices

Wm. Coit Allen, who has been working for some weeks on the suggested steps necessary to assure the Birmingham Selective Service Board remaining in this city, told the other members of the City Commission Monday evening that he now believes it possible to retain the board in its present location.

He said he believed it possible to work out a new rent schedule for the offices now being occupied in the Birmingham Selective Service Board building, which was located in Birmingham. He explained that if that was done it appeared the board would continue to be located in Birmingham.

At a previous meeting it had been reported the local board would be combined with Royal Oak and Farmington Hills. A motion to leave the matter of working out a new rent schedule up to City Manager Harold H. Corson was adopted.
