facilities and services of the house enjoying a real expansion." Miss Jasmann urged solicitors to do their best, stating that "more money means that more human needs will be met." She said that planning of recreation for all ages is of great importance. Miss Jas- mann then presented all of her staff. Mrs. Charles Plamstead, Mrs. A. Upmeyer, Mrs. Clarence Sutton, Mrs. J. A. Ransier, and Miss Betty Boettcher. Mrs. Watly gave a club mem- ber a report on the pro-campaign solicitation by mail. A total of 1,057 people have responded to the letters sent out, contributing $12,327. This is an improvement over last year's record, but Mrs. Watly added: "The easy money is in, the success of the drive depends on how well you do your job, a job not only of soliciting funds but also of interpreting the Community House and its work to all of the people in the area." The meeting ended with instruc- tions given workers by Mrs. Robert Chisass.

Church Thanks City For Aid In Solving Its Seating Problem

D. C. Egbert, city manager, has reported to the City Commission St. James church for assistance heads. The letters, which were received by both Scott Hersey and "In behalf of the members and vestry of St. James Episcopal church, I may I take this opportunity to express our sincere appreciation for your recent assistance in helping us solve the seating problem of our church. Your unsolicited cooperation justifies our faith and belief that the Municipal government of our City is progressive and interested in church, civic and social prob- lems." The letter was signed by Thomas R. Walton, Jr., secretary of the vestry. Mr. Egbert told the Commission both Mr. Hersey, the building inspector and Mr. Scott, the chief of the fire department, are doing excellent jobs each in their own department and I am sure they can- nate the expression of thanks on the part of the St. James vestry for their efforts."

J. Hawley Otis Now Back At Old Position At Pontiac Motor Div.

The reappointment of J. Hawley Otis, Detroit, as a territorial manager of Pontiac Motor Divi- sion is announced by D. U. Bath- rick, Pontiac general sales man- ager. Mr. Otis started with GM in February, 1922, as a technical member of the Service Department in the central office of the Oakland Motor Car Co. In 1926, he became assistant service manager and con- tinued in this capacity until the formation of the BOP Sales Divi- sion in 1930. He served as assist- ant service promotion manager with BOP Sales Division until it was dissolved in 1933. Mr. Otis then went to the Pontiac Chicago region as regional parts and serv- ice manager, in which assignment both Pontiac and Buick field activi- ties were handled by Pontiac Motor. In 1934, Mr. Otis returned to the Pontiac Central Office as assist- ant service manager. He was ap- pointed parts and accessory sales manager in 1937, continuing in this position until 1941 when the parts and accessory staff was sepa- rated into two departments, with Mr. Otis then becoming accessory sales manager. In March, 1942, Mr. Otis transferred to the Purchasing Depart- ment where he filled a special as- signment on war work until he re- turned to his present position in the Sales Department last Novem- ber.

Street to carry heavier (and higher speed) traffic. This would be on the basis of at least partially meeting the second consideration of the need for a better east-west main road. We feel that this ques- tion should be increased at least suitable for this purpose and that the volume and speed of traffic should be increased at least give a fair trial. After studying the problem for more than two hours the Com- mission decided to continue the study for three more weeks, during which time new plans would be studied for that section of the street.

TRIP

In 1876, he married Ida George, daughter of Henry George, one of the largest contractors in Detroit at the time. Leaves Railroad In 1935 Mr. Maxwell left railroad for other work. He was in the quarry business at Jonia, Mich. Returning to railroading work, he was in charge of the Demurrage Co. of which his brother, Edward, was one of the founders. "It was while Dad was at Demurrage that the late Senator James Eastland worked for him," Mrs. Weighing said. "Mr. Eastland left Demurrage to work for Alec Malcolmson, who in turn recom- mended him to Henry Wagner. Mr. Maxwell is very interested in Wagnerian composition. His own compositions are in his favor, and he has made a study of the life of Wagner. Prominent in the musical life of Detroit, Mr. Maxwell had a strong, rich bass voice and used to sing at various Detroit concerts. He was a member of several Detroit Episcopal choirs, including St. James', St. Peter's and St. Andrew's."
