'The Rainbow Fountain' Is Presented By Barnum Summer Swimming Classes

By Judy Sappigton
Over 100 children were very much in the swim of things last Thursday at the Barnum pool when the summer swimming classes, under the direction of Jackie Buck and Jack Neill, presented a water pageant and swimming exhibition entitled "The Rainbow Fountain," a fairy tale in pantomime narrated by Ruth Minks.

The six main characters in the story were played by Billy and Betty Reusch as the king and queen, Paul Matthews and Susan Curley as the two young princesses; Dick Dutton as the garden-keeper and Janice Grove as the gypsy woman.

Members of the gypsy band were Donna Danaher, George, Paul Matthews, Billy Brandt, Philip Young, Tom Unper, Gail Howard, Shirley and Sanford, Collins, Goodwin, Lucy Chonka, Judy Roberts, Helen Masterson, Anita Bohlman, Barbara Ann, Margery Richards, Caroline Shattuck, Susanna Moon, Mary Ann Carral, Joyce Curley, Diane Whittlesy, Barbara Carral, and Eunice Groves.

Has Happy Ending
The play was a tragic little tale with happy ending about a kingdom with a magic rainbow fountain and two young princesses who were turned into green sea monsters by a gypsy. After much sorrow in the kingdom, the princesses regained their natural forms and a celebration with much rejoicing took place. All townspeople and a celebration and the pool at the palace and entertained the royal family and friends of swimming and diving.

The six little girls who broke the gypsy spell by swimming to the foot of the rainbow fountain with lighted candles were Mary Goodwin, Bonnie Dayton, Madona Springer, Gina Skiffington, and Gerry Ganley.

The first event planned for the entertainment was a balloon race. Participants were Susa Semons, Denise Baldwin, Sally Miller, Nan
