Ruth C. Anderson And Harry Meadows Married On July 16

St. Michael's chapel at the Duns Scotus Monastery in Redford was the scene on July 16 of the marriage of Ruth C. Anderson, daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth K. Anderson and the late O. L. Anderson of Golden Gate drive, Lathrup township, to Harry G. Meadows, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Meadows of Elgin, Ill.

Father Ignacius Conroy read the service at 10:30 a. m.

Ruth was attended by her sister, Betty, as maid-of-honor, and Dorothy Heim of Pittsburgh and Joan Tighe of Detroit, as bridesmaids.

Dr. Robert Meadows served his brother as best man and among the ushers were Bob Stilling and George Meadows, both of Elgin.

A reception and wedding breakfast at the Orchard Lake Country club followed the ceremony, after which the newlyweds left on a honeymoon to Montreal.

They are making their home at Orchard Beach, McHenry, Ill.

Anne Bailey and R. W. Lotz Wed in Afternoon Ceremony

The 11 a. m. service in the Presbyterian church of Cincinnati was decorated with ivy greens, candlelight and white gladioli Saturday afternoon for the marriage of Anne Bailey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chelsea L. Bailey of Cincinnati to Robert Walter Lotz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lotz of "Windy Acres," Birmingham.

Rev. Robert Netting read the service at 3:30.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white satin, fashioned with a sweetheart neckline, long fitted bodice, and light sleeves ending in points over the wrists. Her full skirt extended into a short circular train and a lace cap held her finger veil in place. She carried a cascade of stephanotis, rubrum lilies and baby's breath.

Wears Chateau Crepe

Mrs. Bailey was her daughter's Matron-of-honor. She wore a draped Chateau crepe gown with short sleeves and a V neckline. White and yellow crystal-brooches fastened her cap and she wore a corsage of rubrum lilies.

Marjorie Ann Lotz, sister of the groom, as maid-of-honor, wore a full-skirted gown of white crepe with a yellow, green and white plaid tulle ruffle outlining the long fitted bodice. She also wore a cap of yellow and white mums and carried a cascade of yellow mums.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Rolla F. Stenger, sister of the bride, of Alexandria, Va.; Mrs. William Strickland of West Lafayette, Ind.; and Dorothy Szegz of Cincinnati. Their gowns were identical to that of the maid-of-honor and they wore bouquets of yellow mums in their hair and carried cascade bouquets of the same flowers.

Brother is Best Man

Richard E. Lotz was best man for his brother. Ushers included Jack Strubbe, Thomas E. Smith, Jr., and F. J. Connolly of Cincinnati, and Robert Wilcox of Mariemont, O.

For her son's wedding Mrs. Lotz chose a floor-length gown of watermelon crepe with matching hat and gloves. Her corsage was of rubrum lilies.

A reception was held at the bride's home after which the newlyweds left on a honeymoon to Stony Creek Ranch in the Smoky Mountains. For traveling the bride changed into a black and white silk dress, black hat and black accessories.

On their return they will make their home in Cincinnati, O., where Bob will be a senior at Cincinnati University in the fall.

BRIGHT OUTLOOK FOR JUNIORS

Red, white and green clan plaid in a Junior dress designed for Fall 1946.

JUNIORS are going Scotch this Fall—but the gay clan plaid today's dress is made of its next one of its talking points for the new 1946 season. Following pushup sleeves, the small waistline look, a neckline hugging the throat, and full flare to the skirt are equally important trends seen throughout the collections of New York's noted designers of Junior clothes.

Possibly the chief of these trends is the small-waisted look, applying, as it does, to fashions for both the young and the older junior. This year, our designers emphasize the effect with wide, shaped belts and wider midriff inserts, with flaring tails in jackets, and with rounded or square hiplines in skirts.

Other trends, adapted with the sophisticated junior particularly in mind, include Turkish drapery for skirts, seven hemlines, discreet glitter touches, and low to very low necklines.

Leading vivid colors in Junior collections include "fireman's red," Kelly green and royal blue. First among the neutrals is beige, with grey as a close runner-up. All tones of brown and lots of young black are important, as is this winter's off-white, called "May wine" or magnum.

How do they do it?

Could you produce one-third more crops with 10% less manpower? The farmers of America did it during the last full year of the war.

How? Partly by working themselves and their machines longer, harder. Partly by assisting hired help with wired help.

Electricity has taken over more and more farm chores. It pumps water, grinds feed, cures hay, fills silos. It steps up milk and egg and pork production. It eases farm housework, too.

Cheap, dependable electricity has done more than any other force to make farming efficient and farm life comfortable.

Who electrified the farms? Rural electric service didn't happen overnight. It started more than 25 years ago—with America's business-managed electric companies. These companies did the pioneering—the pick-and-shovel work.

The advantages of electricity on the farm were many. The problem was to get it to the farmer. Distance and weather called for new methods and materials. New farm machines suitable for electric drive had to be developed.

Each problem was licked in turn by American initiative and ingenuity. Service grew steadily better and cheaper. Farm by farm, area by area, the web of wire expanded.

What of tomorrow? Today Detroit Edison serves 35,278 farms (about 95% of all farms in our territory and more than 100,000 other rural customers outside of incorporated towns. That's real progress.

But the job isn't done. As fast as transformers, wire, poles and other critical materials become available we are extending reliable, low priced electric service. It is our goal to make this service available to every home, farm, business and industry at the earliest possible date.

For your listening pleasure tune in The Electric Hour every Sunday at 3:30 over WJR featuring Anne Jamison and Bob Stanley with Robert Armstrong and his orchestra.
