Goodsell-Bronson Wedding Rites Read Saturday Eve

The Rev. Roger Eddy Treat was the officiating minister who performed the Saturday evening nuptials in Bushnell Methodist Church uniting in marriage Captain John Bronson and Dr. John Orton Goodsell III. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Karl H. Bronson of Detroit, formerly of Birmingham, while the groom is John Orton Goodsell, Jr., of Saginaw are the groom's parents.

The bride wore a gown of cream wedding ring satin, fashioned on princess lines with a sweetheart neckline. Brussels lace was applied on the bodice, long sleeves, and a neckline, and the full hoop skirt of the gown fell into a short train. A mantilla of family heirloom lace over two-tiered French illusion framed the fingertip veil. Her bridal bouquet was of gardenias and stephanotis.

Mrs. Edward Jesse Potter, Jr., sister of the bride, was matron of honor, and the bridesmaids were Janice F. Goodsell of Saginaw, the bridegroom's sister, Jean W. Christian of Grand Rapids, Mrs. Roy Wetterhall of Ann Arbor and Dorothy Daugherty of New York City.

The bride's attendants were groomed identically in sky blue tulle, made with tight bodices, full draped skirts and matching taffeta gloves. They wore coronets bejeweled with pearls in their hair and carried bouquets of the same blooms.

Serving the groom as best man was Dr. Charles Finney of Detroit, and seating the guests were Edward J. Potter, Jr., of Dearborn, Dr. George E. Wason of Chicago, Thomas E. Claggett and Robert Hill of Saginaw.

For the reception which followed the ceremony at the Dearborn Inn, Mrs. Bronson, the bride's mother, chose a gown of duodenet crepe and a feather hat of the same hue, while Mrs. Goodsell wore a crepe gown of robin's egg blue trimmed with sequins.

For the wedding trip to New York City the bride wore a three-piece suit of wool, black with a yellow gold topper.

On their return the couple will reside in Ann Arbor.

Correction

Although it was Mrs. Walter A. Anderson's prize-winning table which was one of the most outstanding at the recent Christmas Flower Show of the Birmingham branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association, it was erroneously stated in last week's issue as the work of Mrs. Walter A. Kietner.
