

Swimming Meet Will Feature Program Of Barnum PTA Meeting

The regular meeting of the Barnum Parent Teachers' Association will be held tonight at 8 o'clock in the swimming pool room.

A short business meeting will be conducted by Mr. Robert Connor, president of the association. A swimming meet has been arranged by Mr. Mark Smith, swimming chairman, in conjunction with Mr. Jack Brotzmann and Mrs. Geraldine Gibson, physical education instructors at Barnum Junior High. A series of swimming races will be held between the honorers in grades 7, 8 and 9.

The public is invited to come and see the swimming pool in use. Because of the limited seating capacity the audience will be confined to adults. Doors open at 7:45.

The Ranch Room Roundup

"Oh, Boy, are those hamburgers good!" said Nancy Holmes, Nancy Keyes and Kerry Kim, munching away. Relaxing after a grueling five days of tests and such, Pat Hempstead and Lois Patterson were seen arguing in a corner over who was going to get the last sip of coke. Just then Sally Kreider and Nancy Kotts came bursting into the room exclaiming, "No play practice tonight!"

Alice Grant Watters, Joan and Joyce Covling and Carol Brown seemed very engrossed in just joshing. Gimme some dirt, kids.

You'd think it was the football season again by the way Johnny Anderson, Roger Booth, Jack Neal and Bill Shalberg, our little water boy, were doing their best to block traffic by just standing in the middle of the room.

Patricia Schooley Wears Ice Blue In Afternoon Ceremony

Christ Church Cranbrook was the scene of the candlelight ceremony which united Patricia Schooley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Thomas Schooley, 4550 1/2 road, and Howard Potter Estes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard R. Estes of Givenok, in marriage. Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The double ring service was read by the Rev. Walter Young, chaplain of Cranbrook School for Boys. Standards filled with white snapdragons and Easter lilies were placed at the foot of the chancel.

Given in marriage by her father, Patricia chose a gown of heavy ice blue Skinner satin for her wedding. Beaded satin bands formed a yoke at the sweetheart neckline and were featured in the drapes at the hips. The long, lightly fitted sleeves came to points over the wrists and the finger tip well of imported illusion was held in place by a half hat of braided blue satin and illusion. White roses, with a slight tint of blue and forget-me-nots formed the cascade bridal bouquet.

Elizabeth Schooley, her sister's maid-of-honor, and Janice Baxter, bridesmaid, wore identical gowns of heaven blue faille and net. The tight-fitted basque bodices featured a sweetheart neckline and three-quarter length sleeves edged with tiny ruffles. Bands of blue faille formed the sweetheart neckline and the full net skirts and the girls wore matching caps of net and heaven blue beaded ribbon. Janice carried dark red American Beauty roses and the maid-of-honor had a bouquet of a lighter shade of roses.

Robert Thompson of Fernalde was best man and the guests were seated by Dr. Thomas F. Schooley, James Schooley, and Thomas Latimer.

For her daughter's wedding and the reception which followed in

Mrs. Howard Potter Estes

Her hat was of matching blue flowers and she wore blue gloves and a corsage of blue violets.

The groom's mother wore a gown of pastel green trimmed in rose, a rose colored hat and gloves and a corsage of matching carnations.

When the couple left for their wedding trip to Cleveland, Washington and New York, Mrs. Estes wore a light blue gaudinette suit under her fur coat, black accessories and the corsage of forget-me-nots from her bouquet.

League Of Women Voters Reports World Activities

"One must do what one can," said Mrs. R. S. Plexico when, at Monday's meeting of the League of Women Voters at the Community House, she initiated a discussion by the League's international relations committee about UNO and world "hot spots" as an example of the League's effort at what it can do—keep its members and all citizens possible informed about the United Nations Organization and its work.

A brain "refresher" course in UNO organization, conducted by Mrs. H. M. Foley, Mrs. Paul Penfield, Mrs. Philip Prest, Mrs. A. G. Looftbourrow, Mrs. Charles Shain and Mrs. R. W. Rully, also brought members and visitors up-to-date on the UNO's accomplishments in the recently adjourned month-long meeting.

Highlights on the world's "hot spots," often warmly colored by the speaker's background of personal experience in the countries of which they spoke were:

Sining up of the heat in Argentina as a continuation of the 1930 Revolution, Mrs. F. U. Garrison said that the situation, in her opinion, is an outgrowth of nationalism rather than of Fascism or Nazism. This, she said, is generally true of South America.

Mrs. Charles Rust's summary of Russia sharply criticized Russia's youthful, increasing population, now 60 millions greater than ours; its boundless natural resources; its evolution from a nationalistic policy to a more international one which involved after the 1917 revolution staggering problems like teaching 100 million illiterate adults to read and write; its languages to cope with. Stating the consensus of opinion on Russia's reluctance to admit outsiders or to allow Russians to leave, Mrs. Rust said that Russia doesn't want Russians to recognize their own low standards of living or to have others do so.

The Balkans, according to Mrs. Philip Prest, presents a dreary picture of puppet governments friendly to Russia, in a condition of hopeless state slavery. "That is what makes Greece and Turkey amazing," said Mrs. Prest; "they are the only countries to hold out against consistent pressure of Russian domination. Greece only with vague help from England in the background and U. S. encouragement."

China and Japan
"If the Chinese were given their choice they would probably rather be left alone and would eventually solve their own problems without help from the U. S.," said Mrs. Paul Penfield.

Completion of the change in the political, cultural and economic life of Japan was clarified by Mrs. Vernon Genn who likened the revolutionary effect to that of the crusades on Rome. "The Japanese have been struggling for our Western culture ever since Perry arrived and they have been defeated up to now," she said.

Of Germany, "its weakness today is as much a dilemma as its aggressive force was yesterday" asserted Mrs. Foley, in discussing the problem of occupied Germany, which she feels is the problem of Europe.

Mrs. Charles Green described a desolate France rebuilding under its new Socialist president, Felix Gaullin. In contrast, Mrs. Andrea Delatree recounted a charming Christmas story written by her husband from a French university the busy, wonderful party given by G.L.'s to 3,000 French children
