Alice Leslie Tracy Tells of Engagement To Robert G. Sheedy

The engagement of Alice Leslie Tracy to Robert G. Sheedy was announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John L. Tracy, of Merrill street, this week.

Robert is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Sheedy of Wayne. He is a graduate of Wayne High School and served with the 5th Marines in the South Pacific. The bride-elect is a graduate of Baldwin High School.

A spring wedding is being planned by the couple.

Bouquets of Purple and White Violets Adorn Lovely Wedding

At a formal four o'clock wedding in St. Joseph's Episcopal Church, Detroit, Saturday afternoon, Jan. 26, Paula Louise Burke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Burke of the Chatsworth Apartments and formerly of Detroit, became the bride of Charles Wilson Lewis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Lewis of Hawthorne road.

The Rev. Warner L. Forsyth, former rector of St. James Episcopal Church in Birmingham and present rector of St. James Episcopal Church in Grosse Ile, read the candlelight service before an altar decorated with vases of white gladioli and purple violets.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an exquisite gown of navy blue and white satin with a yoke of chintilly lace and a beauteous bodice. The dropped shoulder line was outlined with a band of shirred satin and the full skirt extended into a sweeping train.

Long sleeves ended in points over the wrist and the full length veil of imported French illusion was caught to a coronet of white orchids and double white violets.

Preceding the bride down the aisle was the flower girl, Marjory Smith, of Cleveland, Ohio, a classmate of the bride at Denison University, wearing a yellow patterned dress, featuring a square neckline, three-quarter length sleeves, and a full skirt with a bustle.

She carried a colonial bouquet of purple violets and wore a cluster of the same flowers in her hair. Marjory Walton of Birmingham and Barbara Foag of Detroit were bridesmaids, wearing identical in style to that of the maid-of-honor, and Jane Longstaff of Detroit, Genevieve Davis of Fort Thomas, Ky., and Mrs. Carl E. Rhodes of Birmingham were similar gowns in shade of dusty rose. All of the bridesmaids wore clusters of purple violets by their hair and carried bouquets of the same flowers.

The bridegroom's father was best man and the guests were seated by Gene MacColough, James F. Bennett, Calvin P. Vary, Jr., Donnell Matthews, William E. Esory, Jr., and Clark Pardee.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Detroit Golf Club. Mrs. Burke received her guests, wearing a grey crepe gown with elbow-length gloves of light pink doekick and a pale pink flowered hat. Mrs. Lewis chose a dusty pink gown with a hat of tiny flowers in different shades of pink and a matching corsage of shattered carnations.

The bride wore a beige wool suit, a brown fur coat and brown accessories for her Canadian honeymoon. Her corsage was an orchid from her bouquet. When Mr. and Mrs. Lewis return they will make their home with Charles' parents until they leave for the February term at the University of Michigan. They will then make their home in Ann Arbor until Charles completes his senior year. He was discharged in December from the USAF.

Henry Sling, Detroit violinist, and his string quartet will be heard in two groups of numbers at the February Festival of Music to be presented by the Choral Union of Royal Oak Friday evening, Feb. 1, at 8:15 p. m. in the auditorium of the Royal Oak High School. Several Birmingham people are members of the Choral Union.

Numbers to be played by the quartet include "Quartet No. 13 in G Major" (Haydn), "Almest" (Bocherini), "Interdium in Modo Antico" (Giazounov) and "Irish Reel" (arranged by Pothoff).

Hugh T. Galbraith will lead the Choral Union in four groups of songs.

The concert is being given to raise money for a scholarship fund which is to be used to send vocal students from schools in this area to the National Music Camp at Interlochen this summer.

The Ranch Room Roundup

Your Ranch Room was open an extra night last week to take care of our between semester spirit. The big push arrived after commencement exercises were over. Lenning against the counter were Ann Miller, Clair MacGregor, Larry Long and Maxine Thompson waiting for the best in hamburgers and coleslaw.

We don't understand what Walter McPhall and Phil Savage were studying about because exams were over but a checker game, we guess, can be deep stuff.

Mary Jane Strong, Doug Duke, Bob Doyle, Bill Luscumb, Pat Ritter and Gill Goodwin were playing ping pong, while at another table were Madge Staley, Martin Monroy, Winnie Lee and Helen Hemming engaged in the same sport.

As your reporter went by, Bill Everingham was the sole customer at the soda bar but after our departure we hear the place filled up quickly.

When Miss Jasmann gets back from Atlantic City, she will be brimming over with ideas for our "Ranch Room." The place doesn't seem quite the same without her.
