Rehearsal Dinner Will Be Given By C. E. Wilsons

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Wilson will give the rehearsal dinner for the wedding of Peggy Lind and Charles Erwin Wilson, Jr., Friday evening at the Bloomfield Hills Country Club.

Arriving in time for the affair will be a group of Peggy's classmates from Western colleges. They are: Marjorie McNutt of Stockbridge, Mass.; Merritt McCully of Babylon, N. Y.; Margaret Brown of Scarborough, N. Y.; Ann McCloskey of Philadelphia; Patsy Gumble of Columbus, O.; Caroline Agler of Youngstown; and Patricia Berg of Buffalo, N. Y.

Other out-of-town guests will be Mr. and Mrs. Wilson's daughter, Mrs. Philip Hoyle from Asheville, N. C. and Tom and Will Assip of Long Island, N. Y.

Audrey Krebs, a bridesmaid, arrived July 12 from Elizabeth, N. J., and another bridesmaid, Frances Finkle of Harvard, Conn., arrived yesterday. They will be house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lind as will be Mr. Lind's mother, Mrs. A. W. Lind, who will come down from Leland, Mich., and Mrs. Lind's mother, Mrs. Mildred Haymaker of Defiance, O.

Twelve Short Plays Presented At Third Weekly Performance

For its third weekly performance the Cranbrook Summer Theatre School presented on Wednesday, July 12, a series of twelve short plays, two of them "Petrified Forest" and "The Women," excerpts from longer works. The former included in its cast Pat Philipp and Louis King; the latter, directed by William Stowcock, was played by Ann Hobart, Julia Spillman and Ruth Frank.

Comedy was the keynote of the series, with "Breakfast," a commentary on the morning meal directed by Mrs. Thomas B. Anderson and Ruth Mills and involving Cynthia Heideman, Pat Philipp, Lou Ann Sutton, Sally Gelman, Kit Scheffele and Bob Rausch. Mrs. Monzell Clark directed a second comedy "Remember Your Dishrag" including Mary Ann Millbrand, Sally Collins, Judith Isenberg, Suzanne Mason, Phyllis Orth and Gil Onos; Mr. Carl G. Wornberger directed Margie Barrett, Virginia Good, Elton and Louis King in "The Importance of Being Ernest"; and Langdon Crane, Harriet Broxton and Ruth Oldberg presented "Tag Day." Ruth Mills directed Mary Ann Millbrand, Harry Anderson and Phyllis Sloan in "Set a Thief."

Among the intercollegiate dramas presented was "The Virginia Hungerford," Dolly Millbrand, Mary Bushnell and Jean Smith in "The Gloomy Ones," and Martina McKinney directed "The Auction" with Mary Barton, Sue Crawford, Sam Freshman, Dave Morgan, Karen Oldberg, Barbara Roshoroug, Alice Shaw, Shirley Singas, Maria Rising, Connie Whitney and Donna Hagerman.

The juniors revived an old favorite "The Wrinkled Knees," directed by Dominick Polczynski and featuring Nick Redfield, Nana Nickell, Nancy Carlisle, Sally Wilkinson, Jane McDonald, Barbara Woodcock, and Cynthia McDonald. Jean Moore directed "The Weather Clerk" with Dave Morgan, Doug Lowell, Sarah Colwell, Jack Lutz and Jim Barrett. Mary Quinn produced "The Ghost that Giggled" with Gwen Luce, Kitty Bell, Ray Brant, and Dave Millbrand.

Much of Friday's performance was repeated at a public performance held outdoors at the head of the Europa statue outside the Art Academy on Tuesday at 7:30. Similar programs are planned for each Tuesday evening at the same time.

Dogs, Cats, Rabbits, And Chickens At Pet Parade

Twenty-five pets and twenty-four proud owners circled the course laid out for them at Torrey Field Friday morning to the martial strains of a sixteen-piece band under the direction of Arnold Herzog. The Turley playground pet parade was under way.

Leading the cortege was Bob Waterland, and directly behind him, stepping proudly and twirling batons, were two little girls in white, Carol Miller and Diane Hatpin. Then animal life in all shapes and sizes followed, helped along by the young masters and mistresses. White rabbits, cats, kittens, cocker spaniels, springer spaniels, Irish setters, terriers, a crooked-beaked chicken, a mixed breed of St. Bernard and collie, and a mixture of beagle, coach dog and unknown were among the entries.

Felix De Triska, the course, cleverly laid out by Marjorie Votey, director of the playground, included going between two sticks, jumping over a string, walking over a cardboard box, going around a stick, stepping through a hoop, pulling over a ring, a trick, and finally stopping before the judges' stand. Judges were Melvin, Janet LaRue, and Bob Smith.

The children entering the pets were Chuckie Waterland, Kenny Mehrie, Pat, Phillip, and Phyllis Dafeo, Mary Elizabeth McKee, Bruce Brown, Darlene Johnson, Jerry Miller, Barbara Sweeney, Marjorie and Carol Woodward, Ruth Rust, Bob Keeney, Tommy Devitt, Don McCaffrey, Felix Charlier, Teddy Wychnan, Walter Thompson, Dorothy Johnston, Jackie Willworth, Lois Woodward, Rita Seibert and Dick Dutton. Guides for the day were Ray Vagor and Jay Campbell and safety boys were Richard McKee and Tom Unger.

Prizes Awarded
Felix Charlier, with his triple band of beagle, coach dog and X, won the prize for the largest entry. Award for the smallest went

What's wrong with a one-passenger trolley?

- You might praise its comfort and convenience, if you happened to be the passenger. But if others were waiting, we believe you'd agree that sharing the trolley is a more practical plan.
- The same principle applies to telephone service. Many people have waited a long time for a telephone, and sharing the lines means more service for more people sooner.
- That's why we are making the widest possible use of party-line facilities. When more central office equipment and outside lines can be provided, we'll be able to furnish one-party service to everyone who wants it.
- Meanwhile, if you're on a party line, you can help make service better for everyone by following these simple suggestions:
 - When the line is in use, please don't interrupt except in case of emergency.
 - Keep all calls as brief as possible.
 - Avoid making several calls in immediate succession.
 - After every call, hang up carefully. One receiver improperly replaced puts all the telephones on the line out of service.
