Live Today! How many, many times you hear the oft-expressed aims of those who live "in the future." All their being seems wrapped up in tomorrow—the virtual exclusion of today's happiness. Likewise, there are those who still live (or try to live) the yesterdays of life. Obviously, it is impossible either to recapture the latter or to fasten the former. Live TODAY! When we but stop and think about it there's nothing else to do but to agree with this bit of verse which we noticed on the back of a menu in a small northern Michigan inn: "Don't worry about the future; The present is all you have; The future will soon be present. And present will soon be past. * * * There is doubtless some object in our Shop which would mean much happiness if it were in your home TODAY!—perchance you have been waiting until tomorrow before deciding to come in and get it. Isn't it wiser to enjoy it now—Live TODAY?" La Belles "Birmingham's Shop of Books and Gifts" 137 WEST MAPLE
