State's Pheasant Rearing Program Runs Into Trouble

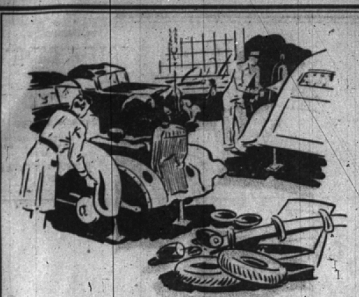

Birmingham sportsmen, and especially those hundreds who do a lot of pheasant hunting each fall, are hearing with regret that the state's program to double its production of pheasant eggs and rear birds this year is running into difficulty.

Elmer Huston says he has had word from a friend in the state conservation department that the state is having just about the same difficulty as are a lot of Birmingham sportsmen and bird-rangers in rearing pheasants.

men and conservation officers are warning the public about the danger of getting onto the ice in Saginaw Bay. Farther north, fishing conditions generally are poor, although ice is fairly safe.

The geological story of Mackinac Island is told by George H. Stanley, University of Michigan geology professor, in a publication, 'Historic Mackinac Island,' published by the conservation department's geological survey division.

With good milk skins currently worth from $35 to $40, conservation department game warden outside Robert Kennicott, an early-day authority on mid-western wildlife, who wrote in 1838 that: 'The skin of the mink, with its beautiful fur, at present is so highly appreciated that it commands ten times the price it did a few years ago; and the fur-dealers no longer need ask it under fictitious names. Very fine dark-colored specimens sometimes sell for $5 each.'

MICHIGAN BELL'S $120,000,000 PROGRAM HAS MADE WORK FOR THOUSANDS

To supply service again when and where it is wanted, and to give you the quality of service you want in the future, Michigan Bell has under way a 5-year $120,000,000 expansion and improvement program. Thousands of workers are engaged in completing this huge project. They include not only our returning veterans, but hundreds of additional employees as well—bringing the total to the largest number in Michigan Bell's history. And the program means work for scores of other folks supplying materials and equipment, and doing skilled construction.

The rate of Telephone Company earnings has been declining in recent years to a point where it is now substantially below the average of other industries. If this condition should continue for too long a time, our ability to raise the money required to meet expected telephone needs would be weakened. The future quality of your telephone service depends on rates that will produce earnings attractive to investors. We believe our customers want good service, even if it costs a trifle more than inferior service. Technical improvements in the past brought rates for good service down and have kept them down in the face of rising costs. As rapidly as future improvements will permit, we expect and want our rates to come down still further. For, Michigan Bell wants rates no higher—and no lower—than necessary to insure good telephone service.
