INTERPRETING THE NEWS

By GENE ALLEMAN

Canadian gold mine promoters are mailing sales literature to Michigan residents from Toronto, peddling stock with luring halibut of future profits. The U. S. securities and exchange commission, to which this activity has been reported, estimates that the Canadian promoters are selling at least $1,000,000 worth of this stock each week to gullible U. S. citizens. The rule still is good: Investigate before you invest.

John Beukema, secretary of the Muskegon Chamber of Commerce, tells a yarn of Florida postwar inflation. The Beukemas spent the month of March at Fort Lauderdale.

The owner of a small resort hotel was approached by a real estate agent who said he had a client seeking a hotel property for investment, said Beukema. "Just put a price on your property," insisted the real estate agent. "I want my client to think I'm doing something for him."

"And as the hotel owner set a price of $175,000—just 100 grand more than it was worth. The buyer offered $165,000 and the deal was closed. Two weeks later the buyer received the same property for a half million—and no doubt this latest owner hopes to turn it in again at a further profit."

Money from Europe is partly responsible, according to Beukema for the Florida boom.

Michigan's number one problem, according to the Michigan United Conservation Clubs, is pollution of streams. Unless Michigan and other states act to put an end to the industrial practice of dumping chemical wastes into streams, require cities to install sewage disposal plants, the problem is likely to provoke Congressional "Sits" from farms and sewage from cities along the Saginaw river is gradually filling up Saginaw Bay. The Consumers Power company recently reported eight feet of silt on top of a gas pipe in the bay. A diver was sent home, and a dredge was hired instead.

legal powers to do it. Governor Harry F. Kelly successfully averted a strike of employees of a leading utility in Michigan. He did it by notifying labor leaders the state would act to enforce the 30-day cooling off requirement in the state mediation law.

Worth thinking about: Minnesota's state labor act, which has a similar cooling off period along with fact-binding, effected a 70 per cent decrease in the first six years of the law compared with the previous three-year average.

Sportsmen in the Osceola-Altona and local area predict that federal foresters will lose their jobs because of negligence which resulted in the loss of approximately 22,000 acres of good timber in April forest fires.

The winter's snow failed to check the smoldering embers in several piles, however, and a stiff April breeze fanned the sparks into four big fires that ravaged an area of around 50,000 acres. The Mack lake rangers' station was destroyed. As a matter of fact, the sudden conflagration caught the rangers by surprise. Their own fire-fighting equipment was lost.

If a sportsman left a camp fire burning in the forest, he would be denounced as a fool. Yet this was exactly what the federal foresters did when they permitted the sawtimber piles to smolder all winter long.

One million acres of Michigan land have gone out of agricultural use in the last five years. . . In 1930 Michigan rated first in lumber production; today, Oregon holds the lead. . . A recent survey of Michigan homes disclosed that 80 per cent were built either entirely or partially of lumber. . . Michigan State College is the first educational institution to undertake an extension service for resort owners. The program is being undertaken in cooperation with the Michigan Tourist Council.

If the Upper Peninsula's resources of low-grade ore can be utilized through electrostatic flotation or magnetic method—an accomplishment yet to be achieved—the economic future of this northland would be greatly brightened. It would open the way to a new industry in the Lake Superior region—the smelting of iron ore close to the mines. Mining is gradually becoming more difficult and more costly in the Upper Peninsula, as shafts sink deeper and labor costs rise under union pressure.

Michigan is second only to Florida in recent development of airports and landing fields, according to Bruce Anderson, chairman of the state advisory committee on aviation. At the beginning of the war Michigan had 124 airports and fields; during the war, 72 more fields were built and put into operation.

Shirley Temple's Brother a Pro

Despite family disapproval, George Temple, Jr., brother of actress Shirley Temple, makes his debut as a professional wrestler in a Los Angeles arena. That's George on the bottom, trying to squirm out of Mike Work's hold—which he did, and won the 20-minute bout as his parents watched glumly from ringside.

"There is no sportsman who will ever fly from the south to the north in Michigan without experiencing a great thrill when looking down on the great resources that nature has given us," says Anderson.

Twenty-two per cent of all crimes in Michigan during 1944 were committed by youngsters who had not reached their twenty-first birthday. These teenagers were responsible for 35 per cent of all robberies; 51 per cent of burglaries; 35 per cent of larcenies; and 63 per cent of automobile thefts.

Representatives of 17 leading trucking companies operating in Michigan told members of the public service commission recently that they paid $1.05 for every $1 of revenue received during the third-quarter, 1945. Union leaders have been demanding a contract clause that a company refuse to haul "unfair" freight as defined by the union.
