Irene Hayman Richards Weded at Dearborn Chapel

On Saturday, May 18, at three o'clock in the afternoon Dr. Charles Tupper Baillie of the First Mrs. James Kennedy Gillam Presbyterian church in South Bend, Ind., read the double ring service which united Irene Hayman Richards, daughter of Mr.

and Mrs. Charles Post Richards of Madison avenue, and James Kennedy Gillam, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Benson Gillam of Lakewood, Ohio, in marriage.

The ceremony took place at the Mary Martha Chapel in Dearborn, where long low arrangements of white spring flowers and burning tapers in candelabra were placed. Irene was given in marriage by her father. Her gown of candle-light satin featured a fitted bodice, long sleeves with points over the wrists, a medium train and a high neck trimmed with Battenburg lace. Her fingertip veil of illusion fell from a shirred band of the same material and she carried a bouquet of azaleas and lilacs-of-the-valley.

Mrs. Elizabeth Gosmer of Detroit, as maid-of-honor, wore pink tulle with mitts to match and a crown of white daisies. She carried a shower bouquet of delphinium and white daisies.

The bridesmaids, Virginia Fallow and Carol Swift of Lakewood, a cousin of the bridegroom, wore aqua tulle. Their hairdresses were of daisies and they carried matching daisies and small pink snapdragons.

Carl E. Hein of Madison, Wis., was best man and the ushers were Wilson Post Richards, the bride's brother, and Robert Quick of Cleveland.

For her daughter's wedding and reception which followed at Dearborn Inn, Mrs. Richards chose a pale blue crepe dress with a pink flowered hat, pink gloves and pink roses on her purse. Mrs. Gillam wore aqua crepe with a flowered hat and red roses.

For traveling, the bride was dressed in a navy blue and pink ensemble with a navy hat trimmed in pink feathers. Her corsage was of gardenias. Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Gillam will make their home in Cleveland.
