Localities on Bradford Junior College Campus

Nancy, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Sanders of Epping Lane, Bloomfield Hills, is a senior. Her interests lie in the dramatic field. Dorothea, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Gordon F. Hess of Wellesley drive, is a freshman, taking an academic program. Linda is a freshman, too, and is interested in math. She is the daughter of Mrs. Frederick Gasow of Wattle road.

Mary, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Welch, Jr. of Yarmouth road, and Judith, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs.

Percy Loud of Dorchester road, are both freshmen, taking academic studies.
All the girls attended Kingswood prior to entering the Bradford, Mass., school, except Dorothea, whose alma mater is Baldwin High School.

Faculty, Students Of Cranbrook Receive Prizes

Faculty and students of the Cranbrook Academy of Art are among the 183 painters and 23 sculptors whose work has been selected for the annual Exhibition for Michigan Artists at the Detroit Institute of Art.
Cranbrook faculty prize winners are Zoltan Zepeshy, who was awarded the Scarsh Club prize for his "Marine Still Life," and Wallace Mitchell, presented the Robert H. Tannahill prize for "Dawn and Bright," and the Mrs. Owen R. Skelton prize for "Screened."
Student Paul Haller Jones received the Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Meisner prize for his "Village After a Storm," and the Anna Scripps Whitcomb prize was awarded to Miguel Sepo, an academy student from Bogota, Columbia, S. A., for his entry, "Woman's Head," in the sculpture division.

Other Works Listed
Current students whose work is represented in the show include Betty Border "Back Yard," Mathew Broner "The Dirt Road," Kate Cincquemani "Bible Quarry," Robert Collins "Memory Portrait," and "On Crumpled Paper," Daniel Jay Dickerson "Stuyvesant Casino," Deborah Hambridge "Rhinos," Paul Kirchner "Young Negroes," David Mitchell, "Chickens," and "Mike," and Spencer Pace "Houseboats-Seattle."
