Ceremony By Candlelight
Unites Birmingham Couple

At an 8:30 p. m. candlelight service in Halsey Baptist Church Oct. 7, Vernon Ann Powers became the bride of Elmer R. Smith. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Uie Powers of Crooka road, while the groom's parents are Mrs. J. C. Tunget of Noblesville, Ind., and Stanley Smith of Crooka road.

Presented for the ceremony by her father, the bride was wearing a suit of gray gabardine, white accessories, and a corsage of shatterd white carnations.

Arlen Powers of Birmingham, sister of the bride, was maid-of-honor, and was also attired in gray gabardine, but with black and white accessories and a corsage of yellow roses.

Bridesmaid Jennie Wilson of Royal Oak chose a suit of powder blue gabardine, black and white accessories, and yellow roses.

Best man was Donald Ford of Birmingham, and ring bearer was Joseph Parks, also of Birmingham. Seating the guests were the bride's cousin, James Powers of Royal Oak, Garth Westcott of Detroit, and Vern Wilson of Royal Oak. A reception in the home of the bride's parents followed the ceremony, and more than a hundred guests were present.

Waite's

IN PONTIAC

Founded in 1896!

50 Years Service to Oakland County

Back in the Horse and Buggy Days

Back in 1896 Pontiac was already world famous for its buggies and wagons. At least a dozen factories were humbling turning out buggies, surreys, sleighs, wagons, sulkeys or parts to make them. Old timers remember such names as Hodges Vehicle Co., Pontiac Spring and Wagon Works, O. J. Beaudette Co., and the Pontiac Buggy Co. Then from buggies to automobiles; and from a quiet little town of 10,000 . . . Pontiac grew to a busy, industrial city of over 70,000 . . . to become an important unit in the nation's industrial life.

In the past 50 years Waite's has grown bigger and better with Pontiac . . . and is now a large, modern department store firmly rooted in the community and faithfully serving its needs.

Now Pontiac's Quality Department Store

Waite's alert staff of buyers regularly visit the important markets of the United States to bring back to Pontiac the newest and most up-to-date Fashions and Home Furnishings available. We have daily contact with our buying offices in New York, Chicago and Los Angeles and use established trade channels to procure the things that you and your family want to buy. We are proud of the magnitude of our responsibility; for our size today is much greater than ever before and we look forward to many years of continued growth, serving the Pontiac area.
