

"Dads' Day" Planned For Nov. 8 Game

Dad's Day, the day when fathers of the Baldwin High School football eleven will come out to the field to see their sons in action from the warming bench, has been postponed to the November 8th game with Highland Park at Pierce Field, according to Frank Whitney, athletic director. Originally scheduled for October 4 when Baldwin met Mt. Clemens, the date was advanced due to the work involved for the first homecoming game.

GOP Leaders Back Senator Vandenberg

Senator Homer Ferguson, Kim Sigler, GOP gubernatorial candidate, and Judge Leland W. Carr held a conference on vote-getting in Ionia.

Republican leaders throughout the state are taking up the cudgel for Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, who is unable to make a campaign for re-election because he is in Paris as a delegate to the Peace Conference.

This solid front backing was evident at a Kim Sigler rally held at the Ionia Fair Grounds last week. The entire Republican state ticket and Supreme Court Judge Leland W. Carr were present and spoke for Vandenberg.

A noteworthy pre-rally conference brought together three ex-grand jury heads whose Detroit and Ingham county grand juries were responsible for the conviction of approximately 100 grafters. They were Senator Ferguson, Kim Sigler, and Judge Carr.

With Kim Sigler, Republican gubernatorial candidate, were Eugene C. Keyes, candidate for lieutenant governor; Frederick M. Alger, Jr., secretary of state aspirant; Eugene F. Black, for attorney general; Murl K. Aten, auditor general candidate, and D. Hale Brake, state treasurer, who seeks re-election.

The Ionia rally was the biggest of the present campaign with more than 3,000 citizens braving a cool evening to sit in the fair grounds grandstand.

Cranbrook Institute Of Science Reports 2 New Appointments

Dr. Stanley A. Cain and Luella C. Schroeder are two new appointees at Cranbrook's Institute of Science. Dr. Cain as staff botanist and Miss Schroeder as assistant preparator.

Dr. Cain has a distinguished research record, having written over 50 scientific papers and a book, "Foundations of Plant Geography," prepared while a Guggenheim Fellow. He has also been active in many professional organizations: Ecological Society of America, Sigma Xi, Phi Kappa Phi, and several State Academies of sciences.

He held the presidency of the Tennessee Academy and was a co-founder of the Butler University Botanical Studies. He resigned from a post with the University of Tennessee to come to Cranbrook and was chief of the science section of Biarritz American University. He is a graduate of Butler University and the University of Chicago. Miss Schroeder has had a varied background of experience to equip her for the manifold problems confronted in preparation of museum exhibits. She originally wished to become an oceanographer and to study fine book bindings and engaged in that field for several years.
