

Someone once said that human efforts of an organized minority, rather than by the majority, are the only way that we can keep America free to appear as she is. For many years, the policies that are an American...

THIS and THAT

Former Birmingham Resident Tells of His Impressions of Hitler. (Editor's Note: The following column was written by Emerson...

"Old Timer" Passes

Our national committeeman from Michigan, Arthur Sumner of Flint, invited me to meet...

Maples Down Hazel Park 'Eleven', 6-0

The important Maple score in the second quarter when fullback Jack Filkins rumbled across from the one-foot line...

To Speak Tonight

Dr. Edgar DeWitt Jones is the topic presented tonight by the "School of Life and Religion," sponsored by the First Methodist Church...

Greyhound Bus Strike Last Friday Affects City for Second Time

Halt of suburban bus service by the Greyhound Lines workers last Friday resulted in not a little confusion for passengers...

Enthusiastic Crowd Attends Voters' Rally

The old crackler warrel may be gone but the political rally staged by the three Leagues of Women Voters of Oakland County...

New "Y" Secretary Will Review Town Meeting

Reports indicate such keen interest in the proposed amendments to the State Constitution to be decided by voters November 5...

Big Rally Forecast For Discussion of State Amendments

Particular attention will be given to presenting and opposing opinions concerning Proposal No. 2, which would provide for the return of one-third of the State sales tax to cities, villages, townships and schools...

Maurice R. Blair, Former Local Resident, Is Dead

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at 3 p. m. from the home at 402 South Lafayette avenue, Royal Oak, for Maurice Renben Blair, 87, who died at 10:45 p. m. last Thursday...

Registrations at An All-Time High

According to the latest information The Eccentric could observe, voting registrations for the township, Southfield Township, Bloomfield Hills, Bloomfield Township and Birmingham are at an extremely high level this year...

Halloween Party All Set for Next Thursday Night

The witches and goblins, black cats and bats have been spotted that they, too, are all ready for Birmingham's annual Community House party...

Local 'Y' Budget Set at $10,000 For Coming Year

Edward F. Kirbert, newly appointed secretary to the newly reorganized Birmingham Branch of the Central YMCA, was introduced at a meeting...

City OKs Bonds To Aid $142,551 Water Dept Plan

It will cost $142,551 to improve the City of Birmingham water system by the construction of two main lines and the addition of more than three miles of 12-inch water main that will tend to equalize the pressure and create a better flow...

'Open House' For Parents of Pierce Students Is Tonight

Pierce School doors will stand hospitably wide tonight when the school celebrates its annual "Open House," beginning at 8 o'clock...

Mayor Mallerer Proclaims Oct. 27 City's 'Navy Day'

Mayor Milton F. Mallerer has proclaimed Sunday, Oct. 27, as Navy Day in Birmingham in accord with the national Navy Day, given by the United States to salute the achievements of the U. S. Navy...

Crabrook Artist Receives Award

Zoltan Zepeshy, of the Crabrook Academy of Art, was awarded the Diana Water Color Medal for his "Sand Mountains," at the annual exhibition of water colors and prints and the 45th annual exhibition of miniatures at the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts...

Will Begin Local Girl Scout Week

To officially open Girl Scout week in Birmingham for the twenty-ninth annual Girl Scout Week, Scouts will attend a "Girl Scouts" U.S. vesper service Sunday, Oct. 27, at the Birmingham Episcopal Church...

Lot of Tension

City Commissioners Monday night granted the Detroit Edison Co. the right to put a high tension wire through Birmingham, as they wish to send a direct line through Detroit to Pontiac along the Grand Trunk right-of-way...

More Stamps Arrive

Birmingham's first supply of 6,000 new 5-cent airmail stamps arrived in the city last week, the local post office revealed this week, but added that a new shipment of 20,000 of the airmails has been received...

It's Hard for Us to Believe, Too

For the first time in the 69 years that The Birmingham Eccentric has been published, we have to say: "We haven't enough room to publish all the news and advertising copy that we receive..."

Two More Buses

Purchase of two new school buses by the Board of Education, bringing to a total of five the number of buses which will be used by the Birmingham school district...

Sidewalk Repairs Set For Spring

Repair and lowering in grade of Birmingham's downtown sidewalks will be undertaken the first thing in Spring, City Manager Douglas C. Egbert said...

Birmingham Resident Is Named Director

Selection of Richard A. Young of Birmingham as chairman of the board of directors has been announced by the Birmingham Chamber of Commerce...

Sept. Construction Is Down One-Third

Birmingham building, as reflected in the building report released by Scott Hersey, building inspector, is down one-third in September. From an August total of $122,886, total building dropped to $79,000 in September...

Student of Great Books

When driving to Kalkaska, I discovered a young man with a knowledge of human nature and the great fund of information that is the result of the study of the great masterman, is a student of the great books. The thoughts of Plato, Aristotle, John Locke, and Abraham Lincoln, are all grist for his mill...

Student of Great Books

There will be a choir made up of one of our best troops in the city to lead the hymns. All Birmingham Scouts, their parents and friends are invited to attend the service...

Student of Great Books

The "Seven Service Days" of Girl Scout Week, which is being held here and all over the country, will begin Oct. 27 and end Nov. 2. Following the major interests of the scouting program, these seven days are each devoted to a different special phase of Girl Scouting...

Student of Great Books

He believes that a man is as old as the experience by which he is willing to profit, as young as the new undertakings on which he is entering. That the young man of good government, I heard him say these things: "That it must first be personal, by the way, that the government should inspire the people, as they, through their own efforts, may satisfy their wants—not by graft or favoritism but by industry under private enterprise. That the government must assist us to decide our differences... not by the gun or force but by many hands, by arbitration and arbitration."

Student of Great Books

A good governor," says Kim Sigler, "must function fairly for all the people."

Student of Great Books

Sigler is extraordinary. He is a student of the great books, and he is a student of the great books. He is a student of the great books, and he is a student of the great books.

Student of Great Books

He believes that a man is as old as the experience by which he is willing to profit, as young as the new undertakings on which he is entering. That the young man of good government, I heard him say these things: "That it must first be personal, by the way, that the government should inspire the people, as they, through their own efforts, may satisfy their wants—not by graft or favoritism but by industry under private enterprise. That the government must assist us to decide our differences... not by the gun or force but by many hands, by arbitration and arbitration."

Student of Great Books

A good governor," says Kim Sigler, "must function fairly for all the people."

Student of Great Books

He believes that a man is as old as the experience by which he is willing to profit, as young as the new undertakings on which he is entering. That the young man of good government, I heard him say these things: "That it must first be personal, by the way, that the government should inspire the people, as they, through their own efforts, may satisfy their wants—not by graft or favoritism but by industry under private enterprise. That the government must assist us to decide our differences... not by the gun or force but by many hands, by arbitration and arbitration."

Student of Great Books

A good governor," says Kim Sigler, "must function fairly for all the people."

Student of Great Books

He believes that a man is as old as the experience by which he is willing to profit, as young as the new undertakings on which he is entering. That the young man of good government, I heard him say these things: "That it must first be personal, by the way, that the government should inspire the people, as they, through their own efforts, may satisfy their wants—not by graft or favoritism but by industry under private enterprise. That the government must assist us to decide our differences... not by the gun or force but by many hands, by arbitration and arbitration."

Student of Great Books

A good governor," says Kim Sigler, "must function fairly for all the people."

Student of Great Books

He believes that a man is as old as the experience by which he is willing to profit, as young as the new undertakings on which he is entering. That the young man of good government, I heard him say these things: "That it must first be personal, by the way, that the government should inspire the people, as they, through their own efforts, may satisfy their wants—not by graft or favoritism but by industry under private enterprise. That the government must assist us to decide our differences... not by the gun or force but by many hands, by arbitration and arbitration."

Student of Great Books

A good governor," says Kim Sigler, "must function fairly for all the people."

Student of Great Books

He believes that a man is as old as the experience by which he is willing to profit, as young as the new undertakings on which he is entering. That the young man of good government, I heard him say these things: "That it must first be personal, by the way, that the government should inspire the people, as they, through their own efforts, may satisfy their wants—not by graft or favoritism but by industry under private enterprise. That the government must assist us to decide our differences... not by the gun or force but by many hands, by arbitration and arbitration."

Student of Great Books

A good governor," says Kim Sigler, "must function fairly for all the people."