DISCUSSION

This proposed amendment gives no certainty that money from it will go where it is needed, but is dispersed purely on a uniform per capita basis not recognizing the needs of the units," Elder emphasized.

At the conclusion of the speaker's remarks, Clark C. Coulter, acting as presiding officer, opened a 30-minute period of questions and answers to the audience. Several members of the audience addressed questions to Phillips and Elder.

Disadvantages Outweigh Merits
Elder summed up his remarks by stating that the advantages of this State Amendment Proposal No. 2 far outweigh its merits. It will throw the burden of government expense on localities already bearing their share, and create a low tax system in other than the disadvantage particularly of metropolitan areas.

In summary Phillips reiterated his belief that "This is the most immediate source of revenue to help schools."

Howard B. Estes, State representative of Oakland County District explained the intent and purpose of state amendment proposals Nos. 1 and 2.

"Adoption of Amendment No. 1 would enable State legislators to allocate money to funds for improvement and development of public roads, harbors of refuge, waterways, airports, landing facilities and aeronautical facilities."

Explain Bonus Proposal
Of Amendment No. 3 relative to bonus payments for military service in World War II, Estes reviewed the figures estimated by State officials.

The proposal would authorize the bonding to the state in the sum not to exceed $270,000,000. It is estimated that this would provide an average of $410 to each veteran according to his service record. The legislators must devise means to meet the obligation of the state to pay the bond issue would cost approximately $16,000,000 a year for a 20-year period.

Forbes Hascall city attorney, outlined the provisions of the two local charter amendments regarding authority to establish off-street parking facilities and the requirement that candidates for city office file petitions two weeks in advance of the present date.

makes up his own mind on situations. I am no "hate worshiper."

I know that no one man or woman can do all the wholesome good that I wish that he or she could do. I know that no one man or woman can do all the wholesome good that I wish that he or she could do. I know that no one man or woman can do all the wholesome good that I wish that he or she could do.

So, folks, along with you who intend to vote for Kim Sigler, I am expecting great things from his administration; great things for the good of Michigan, the whole people of Michigan. Alone, he cannot accomplish what he should do.

He must have an honest and sincere legislator at Lansing; he must have the wholesome cooperation of other departments of State government; he must also continue to win and hold the respect and trust of the people.

On these premises this newspaper has supported Kim Sigler from the start; it shall continue to praise and commend him when he is right, and be constructively critical of him when he is wrong. That he may lead Michigan's government back upon the highroads that he has forborne the low valleys of wrong government is the hope of all who know anything about our State's governmental condition.

Birmingham's New, Modern Lincoln-Mercury Showroom

The above photo is of Birmingham's new modern automobile showroom and service garage for the Lincoln-Mercury dealership, owned by Tom McDonnell. Leased from E. W. Osborne, the building is 100 ft. by 100 ft. and was occupied by the company last week. McDonnell has had the local Lincoln-Mercury franchise since the first of this year.

THE NEW SHOWROOM IS 36x65 FEET. A separate parts department, as well as washing and greasing racks, and a complete mechanical service department which includes all the modern equipment, is also maintained by the agency in connection with the showroom.

And yet we must liquidate that cost in five years. That would amount to $400,000 yearly. Flouting that sum—many here on property in this district would net $38,000 annually, we'd need to levy 10 mills of tax for five years to build that school. Would you recommend that kind of levy if you were me—and would it pass?

Teachers Worse Off in Salaries
"Look at teachers' salaries. A cost-of-living increment of $350 to $400 was added last year. The average salary is $2,600 annually. Despite this, the teacher is worse off this year than last. Because of increased costs of living she finds that she has left for clothing, medical care, insurance, and savings, $490.87 after board and room have been paid. Last year, before the increment, she had $545 left.

We are going against the tide, despite all our efforts. "Is it any wonder that despite crowded conditions in colleges all over the country, there are only 65 per cent as many entering the educational field as in 1941? And of the 35 per cent in that field in 1941 who were men, only seven per cent are now."

The quality of teachers is falling. In Michigan 5,000 teachers have emergency certificates which means they are below the standard. Teaching should attract the best minds.

The teacher is cheapened in the eyes of the boys and girls she is trying to impress by the standard of living she is expected to maintain.

Operational Expenses Have Gone Way Up
"Look at the custodians of our schools. They are the operational expenses. Formerly a man would come out to repair a thermostat for two or four dollars an hour, counting his time when he started fixing the thermostat. Now he figures his time from the time he leaves his office and charges from four to six dollars an hour.

"Am getting so I almost live in my office. I sometimes wonder I don't have my meals sent up on a tray and a bed set up. I'm afraid to take a vacation. I feel I must be there just to keep the wheels going in these times."

In another step designed to eventually get Birmingham's entire sewer system on the same footing as the city's sewer system, Monday evening confirmed the assessment roll for the construction of storm and sanitary sewers on Shipman and Maryland boulevards.

But this approval did not come until after nearly two hours of discussion between property owners and City Commissioners.

Although both sides agreed that Birmingham needs sewers to adequately serve various areas, property owners and Commissioners were not in accord on the project as assessed against property owners.

Before tugging horns with the Maryland property owners, the Commissioners easily disposed of the $13,021 Shipman storm and sanitary sewer with comparative little discussion with Shipman property owners.

On the other hand, a group of Maryland property owners, headed by Stanley E. Ross, 1432 Maryland, and R. W. LeMoigne, 1386 Maryland, maintained that the assessments against property on the west side of Maryland boulevard were not in accordance with the benefits which the project was supposed to provide.

Commissioners finally decided that property on both sides of the street would benefit to an equal extent from the proposed sewer construction and confirmed the assessment roll. Each side of the Maryland project will pay half of the estimated $15,193 project.

New 'Y' Directors Will Be Elected

Plans for the Birmingham Branch of the YMCA for the coming year, Edward Kierbert, its new secretary, announced this week will include working with young men of seven years and up, cooperating with existing youth programs in the churches, and events including girls and women. A meeting of the old Board of Directors of the 'Y' is scheduled for Wednesday evening, Nov. 6, at the Community House when the old board will be dissolved, and men elected to serve on the new consolidated board. All board men will be residents of the Birmingham area. Kierbert is scheduled to take over his duties Monday, Nov. 4.

Music Course For Grade Schools To End With Quiz

A new musical program will be undertaken in the Birmingham elementary schools, Dr. Dwight B. Ireland, superintendent of schools, announced today.

Children will have the opportunity of listening to a group of 18 well-known classical records throughout the fall and winter months, and a contest will be held in the Spring to quiz them on the name of the composer and the composition.

The records for school use will be made available by the Baldwin Public Library and will be set up in six units of three records each. The first record of the six units will be an easily recognizable, well-known record, the incognito, which is slightly more difficult to remember, and the third even more so.

Recognizes Current Needs
"At a time when awareness of music is reaching a high pitch, it seems only right to introduce a program of this type into our schools," Ireland declared.

The first unit entitled "Sounds in Nature" will include the following records: "Flight of the Bumble Bee," by Rimsky-Korsakov, "The Cuckoo," by Daquin and "The Storm" from Rossini's "William Tell Overture."

Other units will be printed in The Eccentric from time to time so that parents may play the records at home for their children.

First and second graders will be required to know the first record of each unit, its composer and name; third and fourth graders will be expected to know the first two records of the units; and fifth and sixth graders should know all of the recordings.
