Quilter-Ormond Vows Read At Saturday Morning Rites

Holy Name church was the scene of the Saturday morning ceremony which united in marriage Mary Huston Ormond, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. John K. Ormond of North Woodward avenue, and Brendon Patrick Quilter, son of Mrs. Patrick Joseph Quilter of Birmingham, N. Y., and the late Mr. Quilter. The couple spoke their wedding vows before the Rev. Fr. David J. Duncan.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was garbed in white net. The full, wide skirt ended in a small train, and the embroidered net bodice was fashioned with a round neck and long sleeves, banded with ruffles of plain net. Her veil was of hand-made net from India, embroidered with bows and ribbons of the valley. She carried a white prayer book on which were white roses and Stephanotis. Around her neck was a silver filigree crucifix.

Solis Garbarino of Corpus Christi, Texas, the bride's single attendant, wore a long white princess style gown, which had a sweetheart neckline and short, puffed sleeves. She carried a bouquet of flame-colored gladioli, and in her hair was a coronet of the same flowers.

Edward Donovan of Johnson City, N. Y., was best man, and ushers were the bride's brothers, John Simmons Ormond, and John K. Ormond, Jr.

For the wedding breakfast following the ceremony, Mrs. Ormond chose a gray-green crepe street-length dress, with a V-neckline and brief sleeves. The bodice was embellished with pink and rose beaded flowers, and her hat was of pink ostrich tips. Her corsage was of pink roses.

For her son's wedding, Mrs. Quilter was attired in a gray crepe gown, fashioned with three-quarter length sleeves. Her hat was of fuchsia flowers, and her corsage of white gardenias.

Mrs. Quilter was wearing a tailored two-piece beige dress of wool and rayon. She wore her bridal flowers.

On their return, they will live at the home of the bride's parents.

Out-of-town guests included Capt. and Mrs. Joseph Quilter of Washington, D. C., Frances Marie Quilter of Birmingham, N. Y., Lieut.-Col. and Mrs. Charles Quilter of Glenview, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. Roger Ormond and family of Grove City, Pa., Mrs. Robert Rich of Woodrich, Pa., and Mary Louise and Elizabeth Quilter of Birmingham, sisters of the groom.
