

City Is Represented By Several Entries In Oakland Dog Show

Judged "best of the show" at the recent Oakland County Dog Show held in Royal Oak was an Airedale terrier, Harham's Rocket, owned by Harold M. Florheim, of Deerfield, Ill.

More than 650 dogs competed for the title from all over the United States. It was the largest show in the club's 10-year history, according to J. P. Hackett, Birmingham's chief of police, who was chairman of the show committee. Don Dasher, 591 Ridgedale, was a committee member.

The terrier who won the title is the son of Champion Broadcaster and Adoration of Aldon, and was bred by his owner.

An English setter, End of Maine Badger Boy, owned by the Marston Kennels in Lansing, was best in the sporting group; a dachshund, Gayrobyn Derek, owned by Ed. W. Drumm of Three Rivers, Mich., was judged best in the hound group, and Country Miss of Research, a boxer, owned by Mrs. Lee Turnbull, 2228 Woodward, Royal Oak, won best in the working group.

In the terrier group, Harham's Rocket, was best; in the toy group Theodore Saunella, a poodle owned by Mrs. W. T. Quick of Detroit, received best, and in the non-sporting group a Boston terrier, Globe Glowing Beauty, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Perry of Wyandotte, placed first.

Shirley L. Zimbauer, 248 Greenwood, won the first in the Doberman Pinscher puppy class, with her dog, Bobbie Lou V. Byrne.

Other Birminghamites who showed dogs were Edgar M. Aver-

Men in Service

Back After 25 Mos.

Private first class Theodore Sirene, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Sirene, 528 Vinewood, has returned home discharged after 25 months in service. Twenty-one months of that time were spent overseas. He participated in the Battle of Legio, and Lazon, and has three battle stars, and holds a presidential unit citation.
