QUICK CANNING QUIZ
(Based on questions frequently asked at Detroit Edison's Home Service Division.)
1. Can I use saccharine or brown sugar in canning fruit?
2. Should I use plain or iodized salt for my canning?
3. How much syrup should I make for a half bushel of peaches?
4. Some of the pears I canned yesterday did not seal tightly. What should I do?
5. Should I paraffin jelly immediately or wait until it sets?
6. Some of my jars are only half full after canning. Should I open them and add more liquid?

- HERE ARE THE ANSWERS...
1. Saccharine or brown sugar is not recommended for the canning of fruit, but honey or corn syrup may be combined with sugar in the making of syrup.
 2. Plain or iodized salt may be used in canning, although plain salt is generally recommended in the preparation of pickles.
 3. A half bushel of peaches will require 10 to 12 cups of completed syrup.
 4. Open jars, drain syrup. Heat syrup to boiling point and pour over fruit in jars. Use new lids and reprocess for one-half of the original time.
 5. Use paraffin immediately.
 6. Loss of liquid in a jar does not affect the keeping quality, provided the seal is perfect.
