Father at 87

Carrizales is father of seven other children by two previous marriages. He's half Cherokee Indian, half Spanish, works every day at a threshing machine company, says he chins himself 40 times every day.

Canny canners are in seventh heaven these days, for A&P has some of the sweetest, juiciest peaches either side of the Mason-Dixon Line! Fresh from Michigan orchards, they're perfect for putting up (if you can restrain your family from eating 'em all before you get the lid on your pressure canner!) And what a wife-saver they'll be next winter, when commercially canned fruit is likely to be scarce. Plan to can a bushel or two of these big, blushing beauties now, so you can enjoy them all year 'round in fruit cocktails, salads, pies, shortcakes and other "peachy" treats!

Their fine flavor will tell you why we say,

"Orchids to the orchards of Michigan!"

TOMATOES

"Buy, buy bluel!" is our theme song right now, for we want everybody to enjoy luscious, big, home-grown tomatoes while they're in season!
