way engineers agree that a residential street should be at least 32 feet wide.

"Merely Paving Cowpaths"

"And then what do we do to such streets as Chesterfield and Oak—streets that will carry many times the amount of traffic that Cambridge or Ruby will?"

"We cut down considerably the size of the street that is going to be heavily traveled. Does that show any sense on our part? I think not," Mallender declared.

Emphasizing that the time has come for Birmingham citizens to forget the "village atmosphere" of the community, Mallender stated further, "We've got to look to the future. We had better adopt a policy concerning street standards and stick to it. If we don't plan for the ultimate load the street will be required to carry, we are merely paving cowpaths."

Commissioners then mutually decided that the hearing on the Chesterfield improvement would be held on October 13.

Ann Arbor Lions Win Team Trophy in State Meet

Two hundred and fifty Lion Club members from all over Michigan attended the annual Lions State Golf Tournament, sponsored by the local club, held at Birmingham Country Club on Tuesday, Aug. 19. Golfers competed in four flights of club and trophies were awarded in each flight.

The team championship, determined by the aggregate score of the day with a 75. Pete Davis of St. Louis was second with 76 and Norm Wendling shot a 77 on the third place. Rochester's four-man team came in second in the team standings.

First Place Tie

In the first flight, for golfers who shot between 80 and 90, Harold Lage of Ann Arbor and E. C. Brogan of Lansing tied for first honors in the second flight, with scores between 90 and 100, Joe Buys of Lansing, Carles Talley of Rochester and Ralph Carr of Pontiac tied for first.

In the flight for golfers who shoot over 100, Jess Allen of Howell and Wally DeLange of Detroit were co-winners.

A tournament dinner was a feature of the tournament with professional entertainment making up the program. Birmingham's barber shop quartet, the "Variety Four," also appeared on the program.

Thirty members of the Lions International State Board of Directors met at a noon luncheon during the affair. International Director S. A. Dodge of Detroit was also a guest.

field single, a passed ball, and Acetelli's double to right. In the sixth inning Norm Zauchin, who hurled the last five innings to the game, after playing both second and first base, hit safely to right and scored ahead of Bretz who had gained first base on a fielder's choice when pinch-hitter Lage rifled the ball between short and third for a single.

Year's Longest Game

Tom Martin relieved York in the twelfth and pitched on equal terms with the fire-balling Zauchin until the nineteenth when Post put men on second and third with none out and Lewis punched the ball over second to end the year's longest game at 1:20 a. m.

Bill Eade, Birmingham catcher, received a thunderous ovation in the seventeenth inning when he was forced to leave the game after being struck on the arm by a pitched ball. Eade had cut down two men at second earlier in the game who was the team sparkling through the entire encounter.

Tuesday Chrysler's dropped another 5-4 contest at the hands of Village Market, whom they had defeated by the same score in the first playoff game.

Martin started for Birmingham but pitched to only two men and then left due to a sore arm. Deanne Cramer relieved him but Markle's heavy hitters shelled him to the bench in the third and although Birmingham pulled very close in the eighth with three runs, they were unable to push across the last necessary run.

student programs based on the UN for presentation during the observance, and the LWV is hoping to get films to show to student assemblies in the schools.

The joint collaboration of Detroit and Windsor leads an international favor to United Nations Week here. Organizations in both cities have pooled their resources and energies for the week-long schedule of programs.

Noted Speaker

Walter E. Gleason, executive secretary of the World Study Council of Detroit, is secretary of the United Nations Week committee. The Windsor group is headed by Col. B. J. S. McDonald, president of the United Nations Society of Windsor, and Mrs. John A. Benson.

Mrs. Charles Shain, president of the Foreign Policy Association and local LWV member, is chairman of the speakers' committee for the events. Allan Lutz of Birmingham and Mrs. Benson are working with her on the committee.

The speakers will include Dean Rusk, chief of the United States State Department's Division of Political Affairs, who will come from Washington to address two meetings on Sept. 15.

International Dinner

Russell Barrer, Detroit News correspondent recently returned from the Middle East, will speak at the international dinner at International House in Detroit, on Sept. 17.

Senator Homer Ferguson will address an audience on Sept. 19 to outline the part of the U. S. Congress in UN.

Windsor will have the Hon. Paul Martin, minister for Welfare and Health of the Canadian government, to speak at the Prince Edward Hotel in Windsor on Sept. 20.

Each participating organization has representatives on the United Nations Week committee, and Mrs. Julia Bachman is chairman of the Detroit group.

Urgent Need Today

Besides Allan Lutz and Mrs. Shain, the Birmingham delegation includes Mrs. F. G. Garrison and Mrs. Phillip Frets of the LWV, and Mrs. Leslie B. Stauffer and Mrs. E. J. Barney of the AAUW.

"Each of us hopes that this national celebration of United Nations Week will focus the attention of every citizen on the purposes, achievements, and the obstacles confronting the UN this year. The great urgency today is to have a tremendous force of American opinion, united in the UN Assembly if it is ever to function as we expect and hope it will," Mrs. Shain said today.

Larger Quorton Sewer Assessment Area Gets Okay

First hearing on the new, enlarged assessment district for the construction of storm sewers in the Quorton Lake Estates area has been set for September 15 by the city commission.

This project, according to city officials, will include construction of storm sewers on West Maple River, and on Pine between Fairfax and Quorton Lake.

A previous proposal for the building of only the West Maple sewer was abandoned by the commission last week after residents argued that the area to the north should be included in the assessment area because it also derived some benefit from the proposed construction.

It was also argued by other residents last week that the area to the south of Maple should not be included in the district since adequate drainage facilities either were not needed or had been provided for by sewers already constructed.

Suggest a Choice

Commissioner Don Bell Monday evening suggested that at the September 15 hearing, these residents south of Maple be offered the opportunity of coming into the area of site signing an agreement that they do not wish to be included in the Maple construction.

"This could then be recited in your abstract which would prevent the sewer and enjoying the benefits without having to pay for them," Bell stated.

City Manager Donald C. Egbert was hesitant in accepting Bell's suggestion because future construction of a sewer for the property south of Maple might involve a greater participation by the city in the expense of that project, Egbert said.

It would be more economical for them to be included in the Maple project, then I believe the city should include them in the assessment area," he declared.

takes in the early drills will be wearing new uniforms regardless of size or experience, Secuntine added.

Ball practice will be held at 10:45 a. m. on Sept. 6. The first big scrimmage is scheduled for Saturday morning, September 6. For the past two months the line has been sent out to all prospective players and if the instructions given out in them have been followed, all players should be ready, he said.

The second game of the season will also be played at home with Farmington furnishing the opposition on the evening of September 23. The first conference game will be played at Mt. Clemens on October 3.

Secuntine also announced that he intends to use a system of football similar to that used by the University of Michigan, with the accent placed on speed and ball handling. The system is a type of single wing and will be interspersed with plays originating from the "T."

municipal Building occasionally got water in its basement during heavy rains.

Area residents agreed with the commission's suggestion that the length of time over which assessments could be spread should be shortened in order that the improvement could be constructed as early as possible.

The new interceptor sewer would start at Henrietta and Brown, run east to Purdy, southeast on Purdy to London, east to Ann, down Ann to Lincoln, east on Lincoln to Woodward and south on Woodward to connect with an eventual 72-inch drain.

This would eliminate a serious drainage bottleneck on Woodward just south of Lincoln.

over November 27-28 as usual, Ireland said.

Christmas vacation will begin on the evening of Dec. 19 and classes will be resumed on Jan. 5. The mid-year commencement is planned for Jan. 20, 1948.

Still Need Rooms

"A number of people have responded to last week's appeal for rooms for teachers," Ireland added. "It is hoped that other people who can spare a room for a teacher will notify the Board of Education so that teachers can be assigned to them."

It is hoped that other people who can spare a room for a teacher will notify the Board of Education so that teachers can be assigned to them. If teachers in the Birmingham public schools can be comfortably situated throughout the year, their work will be much happier in Birmingham and we will have a much higher morale among them."

Bus Routes for Next Year

The bus routes for next year are practically the same as they were last year, Ireland declared. Pupils will be given a copy of the bus schedule when they report for the morning session next Wednesday. All routes outside of the city will be covered by the five Board of Education buses, Ireland said.

Same Bus Fare

"We will enter into an agreement with the Greyhound company for three buses which will take care of those pupils within the city who wish transportation to Barham Junior High School," he explained.

Bus fares on these latter three buses will be offered at the same rate as last year, he said.

"Passes are purchased through the school principal's office at $10 per semester," Ireland pointed out.
